BIG COTTON CROP BEING GATHERED

Despite the fact that 25 per cent or more of the cotton crop of Collin county was plowed under during the growing season this year, in connection with the Federal Government Reduction campaign, the harvest of the fleecy staple in this county so far has been about twenty per cent heavier than last year.

Up until October 18, 1933, a total of 55,419 bales of cotton had been ginned in this county, according to Mrs. Oscar George, Federal Government Cotton Statistician for this county. This is in contrast with 46,395 bales up to October 18, last year, being a gain of 9,042 bales this year over last.

The definite increase in ginnings this year over last year causes farmers and cotton growers to wonder just how big the crop of Collin county would have been this year had not the government plow-up campaign been so enthusiastically and universally observed here.

COUNTY AGENT MEETS WHEAT ADVISORY BOARD

COLLIN COUNTY COMMITTEE IN FORT WORTH TUESDAY

County Farm Agent Jack McCullough, R. C. Fortner of Plano and Edgar Bush of Allen composed a committee from Collin county which appeared before the Government Advisory Board on Wheat Acreage Reduction in Fort Worth Tuesday. This Board is attempting to meet four county agents and their delegations each day. They are seeking a basis for wheat acreage reduction contracts. J. L. Orr of Washington is agricultural statistician of the board, while other members are R. H. Bush and R. R. Reppert of the Texas Agricultural and Mechanical Extension department.

COUNTY AGENT'S MESSAGE TO COLLIN FARMERS

County Farm Agent Jack P. McCullough announces that, according to information his office has received from Washington, the option cotton taken by farmers in the recent plow-up campaign will not be sold until all plow-up checks have been received by farmers. Then if the price of cotton is at least 9.50 cents per pound on the New York market, the Federal government will sell the cotton, to the benefit of the farmers of the South.

This cotton is purposely being held off the market, as above stated, in order to keep the price of the present crop up to a living price and to allow all farmers to receive their plow-up checks. When the government is ready to sell this option cotton blanks will be forwarded to every cooperating grower in this county.

Mrs. Ruth Cullar, Route 1, Princeton, is another new Weekly Democrat-Gazette subscriber for a year in advance. We welcome her.

TOM J. LANE SELLS RETAIL PART OF HIS BUSINESS

A change in McKinney business circles takes place on November 1st, when T. J. Lane sells the grocery department and retail filling station at his place of business on South Tennessee street, to Clay and L. T. Durrett, two of our city's best young business men. They have already taken charge and are having a good trade. They retained William Warden, one of Mr. Lane's former salesmen, to assist them. This makes a fine trio, and the buying public can rest assured of prompt, courteous service. The store will be known in the future as the South End Cash Grocery and Filling Station. Read their ad in today's paper in which they invite their friends to call and trade with them.

Both of these young men were reared in McKinney and have had training in the grocery business from early boyhood. Clay Durret began fifteen years ago as a delivery boy, and was advanced to the position of salesman and later manager. L. T. Durrett began work for T. J. Lane, eleven years ago and has maintained an unbroken record of service in his employ until becoming a part-owner of the business. Clay and L. T. are young men of sterling character, moral, upright, efficient and thoroughly dependable and trustworthy in every walk of life.

We bespeak for them success in the ownership of their business.

Mr. T. J. Lane will continue to serve the wholesale trade with the famous Marathon Oil company products, such as gasoline, kerosene, lubricating oil and greases. Also cleaners Naphtha for cleaning suits, dresses and all work in that line. His office for wholesale customers will be found in the south-end of his building, and he has retained two of his former employees to assist him. Al Chandler Smith will have charge of the books and clerical work and transportation of Marathon products from the company's headquarters at Fort Worth. A. B. Barnes will have charge of the trucks, for city and rural deliveries.

Mr. Lane has built up a large wholesale business and feels that he can better serve his customers by concentrating his efforts altogether in that field, so decided to dispose of the retail part of his business.

There is no finer, more courteous, honorable, upright man to be found than Tom Lane. Everybody likes him.

BASEMENT ADDS NEW EQUIPMENT FOR ITS PATRONS

The Basement Beauty and Barber shop has just installed a six-unit gas dryer of the latest invention and efficiency. It can dry your hair in ten or fifteen minutes with comfort and no gas fumes or any uncomfortable annoyance whatever. It dries from all directions inward and from the scalp outward. It automatically dries faster with less heat and is thermostatically controlled. It is the very latest invention on modern beauty shop equipment. Get your hair set and permanent at this popular shop which is owned and managed by Mr. and Mrs. Jack Warden. Expert help in both Beauty and Barber shop. The Basement Barber and Beauty Shop is the largest business concern of the kind in Collin county. We refer you to their advertisement elsewhere in this paper for further particulars. Mr. and Mrs. Warden have recently returned from Chicago where they took special courses in study and demonstration in their line of work that means so much to the better appearance of their patrons and the public generally of a community.

REV GUY F. JONES HAS NUMEROUS COLLIN FRIENDS

Rev. Guy F. Jones, pastor of Grace Methodist church, at Dallas, preached at the Key Memorial Methodist church in Sherman Sunday. Mr. Jones is a comparatively young preacher, who commenced his ministerial work in this section. He is a former pastor at Anna, Melissa, Chambersville and Frisco in this county and has held meetings in McKinney. He has been pastor of the First Methodist church, at Galveston, and is fast climbing to prominence in his church. He is dearly beloved wherever he goes in his ministerial work and has a multitude of steadfast Collin county friends.

Thanks to Ben F. Richardson, Box 244, Route 2, Orange, California, for $1.50 to renew his Weekly Democrat-Gazette subscription for another year in advance. Ben Richardson made his home in McKinney for a number of years before moving to California. He served as [illegible] carrier on Route 5, McKinney, before going to California.

J. H. HILL SCHOOL P.-T. A. CARNIVAL PROVES SUCCESS

ELABORATE AFFAIR HELD AT CITY COLISEUM

Several hundred McKinney and Collin county citizens visited the J. H. Hill (Central) ward P.-T. A. carnival at the coliseum Tuesday night, which was the feature public attraction for Halloween in this city.

The coliseum was converted into a marked resemblance of an old carnival, with side shows, hot dog stands, wrestling match, fish pond, fortune teller, chili garden, bingo stand and numerous other concession stands. The building was gaily decorated with bright colors, making a festive apperance.

Minstrel Is Feature.

The feature event of the carnival was the minstrel show, many of the characters being those who have been entertainers in minstrels of former days. Mrs. Gibson Phelps was in charge of this feature.

End men were Bob Ed Hamilton, Isaac Crouch, Firpo Kindle, Turn Franklin and Paul Wilson, while circle men were Dr. Bryce Miller, Prof. C. M. Duvall, Tom Mitchell, W. Hammond Moore, W. W. Hall and Claud Neely. E. M. Kressley was interlocutor, introducing the numbers.

Special Numbers.

The end men as black-faced comedians, kept the audience in an uproar with their funny wise cracks and jokes while several members of the cast gave specialty numbers. Among these were solos by the following: "River, Stay Away from My Door" by Turn Franklin; "The Last Round Up," Dr. Miller; "My Old Kentucky Home," Paul Wilson; "How Come You Do Me Like You Do," Bob Ed Hamilton; "Old Black Joe," Tom Mitchell; "Two Tickets to Georgia," Isaac Crouch. Mr. Crouch responded to an encore with a special dance number.

Mr. Kressley introduced "McKinney's Own Quartet," composed of Messrs. Miller, Hamilton, Franklin and Mitchell, who gave an entertaining number after which "Rev." Turn Franklin, gave his famous sermon "Discourse on Love," which drew hearty applause from the big crowd.

The minstrel stage was erected in the tabernacle adjoining the coliseum, with a seating capacity of two of three hundred. Two performances were given during the evening, both times every seat being taken with many standing.

Mrs. H. H. Neilson, president of the J. H. Hill P.-T. A. and all other members are being commended for the splendid carnival presented at the coliseum Tuesday night.

MUST REFRAIN FROM PLOWING IN THE ROADS

County Judge J. Frank Harrington and the county commissioners court, calls attention to the custom of some people, living on or working land along some of the public roads of the county, who have been plowing in the roads and seriously injuring them. He says this is a violation of the law, and the Commissioners Court is now by this means notifying all such persons as to the law, governing this matter, as follows: "Article 784 of the Penal Code of Texas, provides as follows—Whoever shall willfully obstruct or injure or cause to be obstructed or injured in any manner whatsoever any public road or highway or any street or alley in any town or city, or any public bridge or causeway, within this state, shall be fined not exceeding ($200.00) Two Hundred Dollars."

The Commissioners Court of Collin county respectfully request that all citizens of the county, or persons owning or working farm lands along the roads, to cease plowing in the roads, until and unless they receive a written permission from the Commissioner of the precinct where such land is situated. All persons injuring the roads of the county by plowing therein or any other way, will be prosecuted, Judge Harrington says.

Goodney Graves, an exceptionally good farmer and stockman living on his big farm not more than a mile from the northwest McKinney city corporate limits, plowed up about half of his cotton crop this year in cooperation with the government's efforts to reduce cotton production. The other half of his crop yielded well and is about picked out. Mr. Graves says that his corn crop this year is the serriest that he ever made with one exception which was in the dry year of 1911. Mr. Graves has finished sowing his fall wheat. He made good wheat again this year.

CHURCH PAYS MERITED TRIBUTE TO J. P. NENNEY

FOR 43 YEARS HAD UNBROKEN ATTENDANCE RECORD

JAMES PATRICK NENNEY

On the night of Sunday, Septempebr 17, 1933, when God called "Home" Mr. James P. Nenney, the First Presbyterian church of McKinney, Texas, lost her Senior Elder and last Charter Member.

Mr. Nenney was born at Russellville, Tennessee, on January 11, 1841, and came to McKinney in 1860.

He immediately joined the Texas Rangers, rendering service on the Texas border until the next year when he enlisted in the Confederate army and served during the entire period of the Civil War. At the close of the war he returned to McKinney and became very prominent and active in business affairs in the community.

When the McKinney Presbyterian church was organized in 1874, Mr. Nenney transferred his membership to this organization, to which he gave his best until God took him into the Church Trimphant. A few months after the organization of this church, Mr. Nenney was elected a deacon. After six years of faithful service in this capacity, he was elected a Ruling Elder and rendered most valuable service for more than fifty-two years. He was always in his place at the church and held a record of 43 years without missing a church, Sabbath school, or Prayer Meeting service.

On Sunday, April 5, 1931, Mr. Nenney was honored in a special service celebrating his fifty years as an elder, and the church on this occasion presented him a gold medal for faithful attendance and service.

At a meeting of the elders and deacons on October 17, 1933, the following Resolutions were adopted:

Resolved:

1. That we thank God for the long, faithful and efficient life of this man of God whose life shall continue to be an inspiration to us, "For his works do follow him."

"The hoary head is a crown of glory, if it be found in the way of righteousness."

2. That we again assure the bereaved wife, sons and daughters of our most sincere sympathy, and pray God's richest blessings upon each of them.

3. That a page in our Sessional Records be sacredly dedicated to the memory of Mr. James P. Nenney.

4. That a copy of these resolutions be sent to the bereaved family and also a copy be sent to the Christian Observer for publication.

ROBERT L. COWAN,
Pastor.
R. D. ERWIN,
Clerk of Session.

TEACHERS MAY BORROW ON VOUCHERS

According to County Supt. L. Dow Hendricks and his assistant, Malcolm Walters, the County School Board has made it possible for trustees and teachers to borrow one or more month's salary. They ask teachers in the county not to discount or borrow on their vouchers, but to bring them into their office, instead.

Supt. Hendricks also announces that vouchers this year will be paid in ten installments, teachers being paid the remainder of their salaries after school has been dismissed next spring. The superintendent's office will not honor parts of, or split vouchers.

Teachers and trustees of the county are urged to bear this information in mind and to act accordingly.

Ideal weather Tuesday night made a delightful setting for one of the most enjoyable Halloween nights McKinney has experienced in years. It was a "Recovery Halloween" and truly manifested the growing spirit of confidence and happiness among Americans. McKinneyites turned out in large numbers for the occasion, going to parties, enjoying a walk around the square, which was packed to the utmost, or talking in the big Halloween carnival at the city coliseum, sponsored by the J. H. Hill school P.-T. A.

John A. Williams, a mighty good farmer and a high class citizen, who lives in the Wetsel community, mingled with the crowd on our streets Saturday afternoon. These editors are always glad to meet up with this good man and shake his friendly hand.

Ray Hawkins, getting his mail on Route 5, McKinney, has our thanks for cash to renew his Daily Courier-Gazette subscription for several more months in advance.

CONGRESSMAN SAM RAYBURN TO WASHINGTON

Congressman Sam Rayburn of this district, chairman of the Interstate and Foreign Commerce Committee of Congress and probably the most influential advocate of plans to build the big Denison Dam on Red River, left Sunday night for Washington, D. C., with O. N. Floyd of Dallas, engineer for the Red River Control and Navigation Association and chairman of the Red River Commission.

These gentlemen were called back to Washington Friday, while Congressman Rayburn was in McKinney, to appear Tuesday before the Mississippi Drainage Board for a discussion of the Red River plans.

Their recall to Washington, said Mr. Floyd, makes the project look good to them. "I have heretofore stated that if I should be called back to Washington in the near future then the project would look good to me."

In his talk to the McKinney Rotary club last Friday Congressman Rayburn stated that he was hopeful of the building by the Federal Government of the Denison dam which would hold back flood waters of the Upper Red River, thus protecting the Lower Mississippi Delta from disastrous floods and overflows.

Mr. Rayburn stated that the proposed dam would give employment to from 3,500 to 4,000 men for three years and would cost the Federal Government $36,000,000, which is only one-tenth of the destruction caused by the overflow of the Mississippi in one overflow in 1927.

The dam would create a lake of 250,000 acres and would serve useful purposes in many ways for years to come, besides helping to relieve the Mississippi flood dangers and give employment and maintenance to more than 15,000 people, counting the dependents of the workmen employed on it

M'KINNEY BOY NAVAL OFFICER CREW WIN HONOR

Washington.—The United States Steamship Omaha, light cruiser, of cruiser division No. 3, battle force, has been awarded the battle efficiency penant for the light cruiser class for the year 1932-1933, and also has won the trophies for gunnery, engineering and communication competitions in her class. Acting Secretary of the Navy Roosevelt has sent a letter of notification to Capt Jonathan S. Dowell, United States Navy, commanding officer of the Omaha, informing him that his ship had won the four prizes for which all vessels in the light cruiser class competed during the last year.

Captain Dowell has been in command of the Omaha since May, 1932. He was born in Texas Dec. 21, 1881, and was appointed to the naval academy from McKinney in 1901.

Capt. Dowell Reared Here.

The above news item under Washington date line, October 26, appeared in the Dallas Morning News, is of special interest to the relatives of Capt. Jonathan S. Dowell and his many other friends living here and elsewhere in the county of which he is a native.

Capt. Jonathan S. Dowell is a son of the late Capt. J. S. Dowell Sr., and wife. He was reared in McKinney and attended school here until he received his appointment to the Naval Academy at Annapolis, from which institution he graduated with honors. He has since steadily climbed in promotion, until at the present time he holds the commission of a captain. He has a brother, Tom Dowell, and three sisters, Mrs. W. E. Ditto, Mrs. Dr. T. H. Bryant and Miss Ruth Dowell, all still in McKinney. He has another brother, Horace Dowell, who is a prominent cotton mill operator of Alabama and Mississippi. His many old home friends in this city and county who are proud to read of his honors of which the above Washington dispatch is one of many.

Watsel G. Burnsides and Miss Verna Holland, popular young Melissa couple, were united in marriage by Rev. M. F. Wheeler at his residence, 1108 College street, here Saturday evening at 8 o'clock. The groom is a son of L. A. Burnsides of Melissa while the bride is a daughter of G. W. Howard of that place.

The happy young couple have the best wishes of a multitude of friends. They expect to continue to reside in Melissa.

The Daily Courier-Gazette and Weekly Democrat-Gazette printed some circulars Saturday, announcing a box supper at Routh, for the benefit of the Athletic fund of the school. The box supper will be held Friday night, November 3. Plenty of music, lots of fun and everybody invited to come out.

CHRISTIAN CHURCHES ENJOY FELLOWSHIP GATHERING TUESDAY

BY DR. C. S. WEAVER

In this day of stress and strain, human fellowship of a high class is most essential to keep people from despair.

The writer of these lines gives it as his humble judgment that many people would be saved from despair today if they but enjoyed human fellowship more.

Among many agencies, none are better adapted to the satisfying of this great human need than the church. This because it is democratic, and its doors are open to any who may come. Criticism to the contrary notwithstanding, there is no place where people may meet on such common ground as the fellowship in the church.

As one among many such fellowships in our county, is the "Collin County Fellowship Meeting of Christian Churches." Three or four meetings are held annually at the various churches throughout the county. The entertaining church furnishes the noon-day luncheon.

The fall meeting of this organization met with the Wylie Christian church all day Tuesday, October 31. The ladies of this church had beautified the building with fall decorations in keeping with the season.

Mrs. C. S. Scott of Chambersville, is secretary of the meeting, but owing to illness was detained from this meeting and her place as secretary was taken for the day by J. E. Dickenson of Melissa. A message of greetings and appreciation was ordered sent to Mrs. Scott and the hope expressed that she would make early recovery from illness.

Guest Speaker.

Rev. D. W. Nicholas of the Plano church is the president of the county organization. A program praticipated in by various members of the county churches makes the day very helpful, but in order that a breath of freshness from the outside may be enjoyed, a guest speaker is generally invited from without the county. For the Wylie meeting that speaker was Dr. A. Preston Gray of Tennessee, who happened at this time to be engaged in a revival meeting at the Plano Christian church. Dr. Gray brougnt the morning sermon.

A roll call of the county churches is made, and all from that church are asked to stand and be counted, then some one from that church makes a report of any special encouraging features of their particular field. In this way the people of the county come to know one another in a different field from the ordinary humdrum of daily life.

At Tuesday's meeting Will N. Csborn, in a fine spirit, setting a high standard for the day, brought the opening devotional service. John D. Abel of Fort Worth and at present song leader in the Plano revival conducted the morning song service and brought two special messages in song. Elmer D. Stratton, the convention song leader, took his place of regular song leader for the afternoon meeting.

Officers Re-elected.

Gene Biggs of the Lucas church and Rev. Granville Walker, T. C. U. student, and also pastor at Lucas, Allen and Frisco, constituted the resolutions committee. The nominations committee, through its chairman, Will Osborn, brought in a report naming the same officers to succeed themselves and in addition named J. E. Dickinson to assist Mrs. Scott in a secretarial capacity until she recovered from her illness.

Dr. Roy Biser of the Central Christian church of Sherman and Rev. Patrick Henry of Fort Worth being present as guests, made brief reports of their recent experiences in attendance at the recent national church convention at Pittsburgh, Pa.

Dr. John Lord, a teacher at Texas Christian university, and also half time pastor of the Wylie church, was present as pastor host and also gave the closing sermon which was a most fitting climax to a very wonderful day of fine fellowship.

Dinner Enjoyed.

The Wylie church, not having convenient facilities within their church for the serving of meals, had secured a convenient hall down town within two blocks of the church where they served a bountiful dinner as a courtesy to all the visitors.

No attempt will be made to give a list of all guests present

M'KINNEY 25 Years Ago

From The Files of The Daily Courier-Gazette

Oct. 30, 1908

Deputy County Clerk C. L. Sears is absent from the office today, attending the bedside of his seriously ill wife.

Mrs. Jack Chambers of Seymour, has returned home after a visit to the home of her father-in-law, Z. T. Chambers, in McKinney.

W. T. Shumake, wife and daughter, Della, who live about a mile Northwest of McKinney, were here this morning en route to the State fair in Dallas.

Hon Clint Chambers of Anson, Texas, is here visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Z. T. Chambers. Clint was private secretary to Speaker Tom B. Love in the thirtieth legislature.

City Marshal Johnny McKinney requests business men on the square to refrain from burning trash on the new vetrified brick pavement. This can not be tolerated because it will ruin the pavement. He says "put your trash in an old barrel or box and the city trash wagon will haul it off for you."

J. A. Rogers, who was run over and killed by a train at Whitewright, as reported in this paper yesterday, as he was moving from McKinney to Muskogee, Okla., was buried in Pecan Grove cemetery today. Funeral services were held from the home of his nephew, Will Tichnor and wife in the First Methodist church, with Rev. J. B. Gober in charge, assisted by Rev. J. F. Pierce, presiding elder. Other ministers assisting were Rev. F. A. Rossner of Honey Grove, and Rev. C. B. Fladger of Plano. The deceased was a native of Collin county, having been born near Frisco in 1855.

FINE ARRAY OF FILMS ON WAY TO THE RITZ

Roy L. Brockman, manager of the Ritz theater, was a Dallas business visitor Tuesday, visiting representatives of moving picture studios and signing up for several score of the best-known and latest film releases for the Ritz.

Mr. Brockman is highly pleased with the array of films he is bringing to McKinney. The Armistice Day film at the Ritz will be "Tarzan The Fearless" and the Thanksgiving Day offering will be either "Take A Chance" or "Penthouse."

Thursday and Friday of this week, at the Ritz, patrons will see the initimable pair, Zasu Pitts and Slim Summerville in "Out All Night." Saturday Madge Evans comes in "Beauty For Sale." Saturday midnight, Sunday and Monday, "Too Much Harmoney," will be featured, starring Bing Crosby, Jack Oakie, Skeets Gallagher and numerous other screen comedians.

Other films coming to the Ritz during the next few weeks include Eddie Cantor in "Whoopee," "Tarzan, The Fearless," "I'm No Angel," starring Mae West; "Bomshell," with Jean Harlow; "Penthouse," "Ducksoup," featuring the Marx Brothers; "Saturday's Millions," a football picture; "Footlight Parade," "Sweetheart of Sigma Chi," "Only Yesterday," "One Sunday Afternoon," "Take A Chance" and numerous others of the latest releases.

In the opinion of Mr. Brockman, this is the best run of pictures he has ever been able to secure for the Ritz for several weeks' consecutive showing.

THURSDAY, NOVEMBER 2, 1933.

When ever we hear a bag-pipe played over the radio it makes us think of someone stepping on a cat's tail.

Collin county has a big turkey crop now about ripe and ready to dispose of by the frugal farm women who have taken the trouble to raise them.

The race question of today is which pony will win? In fact, some men's life work is breaking horses, while others let the horses break them.

According to a report from the Department of Labor, employment was increased five per cent and wages three per cent between September 15 and October 15. This is good news and shows that prosperity is well on its way back.

The pecan crop in Collin county, on account of the drouth and insects, is short. But the 'simmons, 'taters and 'possom crops are extra fine. Who would not like to be in old Collin county? Here is where Adam and Eve met and became friends.

After looking over the livestock exhibits at various county fairs and also the state fair, there are all indications that the farmer is replacing the tractor with the horse. According to economists, the farmer is back on the right road to prosperity.

Editor Pat Mayse of the Paris Morning News reports a sweet potato grown near his town this year weighing eight pounds. A recent item, appearing in our Twenty-Five Years Ago column in this paper, tells of an eleven pound sweet potato grown near McKinney a quarter of a century ago. Pat, your county is away behind.

Since re-districting, the Fourth Congressional District represented by Congressman Sam Rayburn contains seven counties instead of only five. The seven are Collin, Grayson, Fannin, Hunt, Rains, Rockwall and Kaufman. The last two named counties were added to Mr. Rayburn's district by the last legislature.

Discussing the Texas Centennial to be held in 1936—less than three years away—John W. Carpenter, prominent Dallas business man, capitalist and civic leader says: "The benefits securing to Texas from the Centennial are too obvious to need argument. But one that might not come readily to mind is that Texas is so huge that it has been inclined to drift into a sort of intra-state sectionalism. The Centennial will serve to remind Texans that their state's history, with all its proud accomplishments, is indivisible."

A new brand of fisherman's stories has appeared in Celina, northwest Collin little city of no mean importance. Walter Caruth and J. W. Weaver are telling about a cow that ate their lunch of fried chicken, potatoes, bread and other edibles that they took along with them on a recent fishing trip on Lake Dallas. The fastidious bovine was winding up her meal by chewing their feather pillow for dessert when they returned to their parked auto for lunch. Fried chicken eating cow is a new one on us.

Prof. Ralph Frazier, band instructor and orchestra leader, is practicing on a program of orchestral music to be discoursed during the coming Pure Food show that the Presbyterian ladies are sponsoring. Mr. Frazier says that he will have at least a twenty-piece high school orchestra composed exclusively of high school students to enliven the several days and nights duration of the Pure Food show by their lively and inspiring music. Prof. Frazier is giving full time to instruction in band and orchestral music in our high school. While his work did not commence until midsummer, yet remarkable progress has been made by these students. You will say so, too, when you hear them, and you will be proud of them.

CROP SECURITY VINDICATED.

Some persons expressed the fear when the Government came to the resuce of the farmer, by financing his farming operations with only crops as security, that Uncle Sam was entering a risky business and would never secure repayment of any considerable percentage of the loans granted. Figures released by Owen W. Sherrill over the last week-end allay any fear that may have existed and revealed that of the $5,050,040.50 loaned on 1933 crops a total of $2,894,802.32, or 57%, had been repaid October 28th—and the notes are not due until October 31. Of the last mentioned sum, $1,007,423.83 was paid into the Dallas office during the six days of last week. The office still has 12,000 bales of cotton and over 1,000,000 pounds of pinto beans as collateral not yet sold. What bank or private business can show such a splendid collection record? Mr. Sherrill, who is regional manager of the Southwestern crop production loan office of the Farm Credit Administration, is a former Texas banker-farmer-county agent, and told his borrowers that government money loaned to the individual comes out of the pockets of the taxpayers and must be returned. He has taught his borrowers from the beginning that government funds loaned are a sacred transaction between the individual and his government and if his crops fail to produce enough revenue to take care of the loan he should develop other resources to discharge the debt. The explanation of the outstanding record of the Dallas office in collections may be attributed to the fact having been granted on the basis of a loan instead of a gift and lastly, but not the least important, teamwork of every person who had anything to do with the organization.

Football is a favorite national pastime in the United States. But, it is rough stuff to look upon by those who don't understand the game. Twelve or fourteen fatalities are reported among the players thus far this season throughout the country.

The other morning a certain farmer asked a local merchant why he did not advertise some of his bargains. "I did," answered the merchant, "Didn't you see my signboard as you came into town?" "No," answered the farmer. "By the way, don't you realize that a signboard will be an awkward thing for one to hold as I sit before my fire these long evenings?"

Definite advancement was registered by the McKinney Public schools when band music and instruction in orchestral music was added to its course of study this year. Prof. Ralph E. Frazier, who has a college degree in band instruction and music as the teacher. We don't see how we ever got along without this branch of education for our splendid boys and girls.

The South is still the premier cotton growing section of the world despite the efforts of foreign countries to take advantage of the plow-up campaign last summer. All foreign countries planted heavy crops on the strength of the plow-up, hoping to take control of the World market. But the Southern product amazed everyone by coming in stronger than usual, even with the handicap of the plow-up campaign. It will always remain thus, we hope.

Future farmers of America is a worthwhile organization. It is composed of Vocational Agriculture students. McKinney has one of those groups under the direction of Prof. J. T. Rollins, vocational agricultural teacher in our high school. Prof. Rollins also has the honor of being president of the district organization of Vocational Agricultural teachers in about sixty-five Texas high schools, extending clear across the Northern portion of the state to the Louisiana state line.

This paper solicits all the local town and county news of a legitimate nature that it can procure. We appreciate our friends helping us locate the news. We will thank you to mail your items or give them personally to our reporters or editors or phone them. But, items of community events wherein revenue is sought to be derived from the public should be and is advertising matter and must be paid for. It should also be borne in mind that tributes of respect to the dead sent in subsequently to the obituary are also chargeable matter the same as any other advertising.

Interest in purebred livestock has declined in Collin county during the last three or four years of depression, but many breeders still maintain their interest in the business. Among them are R. G. Martin & Sons of Celina who were awarded a number of prizes and a goodly sum of cash on their recent State Fair entry of fat hogs, breeding Duroc-Jersey swine and other exhibits. We still maintain that the farmer who breeds the best of livestock will add to his annual farm income, one year with another, much faster than he can in raising scrub cattle horses, mules, sheep and hogs.

Definite assurance was given Farmersville recently that the Civilian Conservation Corps camp near that city would not be moved from the vicinity within the next six months. Farmersville was afraid for awhile that the camp was going to be moved, possibly out of the county, but Congressman Sam Rayburn got busy and the splendid little city east of Sister Grove is now assured that the camp is going to stay. This camp is really a conservation camp and the boys are not "members of the forest army." They do very little work with trees, trying to prevent erosion and aid the famous East Collin soil to "hold its own."

The State Senate voted for the appropriation to buy farms for destitute, unemployed people, says the McKinney Examiner. Its editor continues: "No person is eligible for this loan unless he is the head of a family, homeless, and has been a resident of Texas for more than five years prior to Sept. 1, 1933. The "subsistence homestead" loans may be for a period of 20 years. Interest is limited to five per cent. It looks good to us. It is meant to aid the "down and outs." Like all good things it can be turned into a vast reservoir of graft if not properly managed. But it has the look of good common sense, "helping others to help themselves" and thus head off what looks like a grand rush for the dole. The more home owners we have in this country the more secure our future as a nation will be."

Editor J. Newell Johnston and wife are the parents of a fine baby boy at Sherman. Mr. Johnston is the editor of the Democrat of that city. He is a McKinney reared man, a son of H. N. Johnston of this city where he received his high school education, later graduating from Southern Methodist University and serving as managing editor of the Galveston News before going to Sherman. Editor Johnston's associates on the Democrat announce the stork's visit in the following unique news item in his own paper run in on him while he was "otherwise" engaged. The NRA (Newell Recovery Act) went into effect at 4:30 a. m. Friday (the thirteenth if that means anything, which it does) at the Wilson N. Jones Hospital when a son was born to Mr. and Mrs. J. Newell Johnston. Friends and intimate associates of the popular Sherman couple heaved great heaves of sighs of relief when it was finally announced that a stork tragedy had been averted, and a top spinner and a window breaker had arrived to brighten the hearthside of the Johnston homestead.

RAYBURN AND THE SPEAKERSHIP

They are talking about making Sam Rayburn speaker of the House of Representatives, says the Dallas Journal. "They," of course, are various and sundry people—some in newspaper offices and some out. But it is interesting talk says the Journal editor who continues:

Mr. Rayburn has had long experience. He understands how to be a friend and how to find friends. In a tight situation he can be of real use to his party.

The present speaker makes an interesting speech and wears an interesting shock of hair. But at leadership he is more vigorous than advised. At least he has to rely upon somebody else's advice. And sometimes, unfortunately he forgets to wait to get it before action.

THE EFFECT OF WORDS

A harsh word once rashly said,
Upon its evil journey sped;
Like a sharp and cruel dart,
It pierced a fond and loving heart.
It turned a friend into a foe
And everywhere caused pain and woe.

But it was followed by a kind word one day,
It flew swiftly on its blessed way;
It healed the wound, it stopped the pain,
And friends of old are friends again.
It made the hate and anger cease
And everywhere brought joy and peace.

THE PEOPLES' CLEARING HOUSE

The Daily Courier-Gazette and Weekly Democrat-Gazette will print short timely communications that are acceptable. They must be free from personal abuse and libel. Authors must sign their names. The views expressed here in are the writer's—not these editors. Space is limited. This column will be called: "The Peoples' Clearing House."

McKENZIE TRAIL

In his splendid Dallas News story of Oct. 8, "Frontier Forts That Foiled Redskins," Roy Hall falls into an error when he says that the cow trail which ran by Fort Griffin, Abilene and other West Texas points, known as the McKenzie Trail, was the only trail out of Texas from 1866 to 1834. He was right when he said that "at Red River the drivers struck the old Chisholm Trail, which extended from that place to Kansas."

I drove the Chisholm Trail in 1876 from Bastrop County northward. One prong of this trail stretched far southward to points on the Rio Grande, including Brownsville. These prongs converged below San Antonio, from whence northward the Chisholm Trail ran by Austin, Round Rock, Georgetown, Belton, Comanche Springs, Crawford, Valley Mills, Clifton, Meridian and on up through Cleburne and Fort Worth to the old Red River crossing near Gainesville. This was as much a part of the Chisholm Trail as the Kansas Trail.

Mr. Hall falls into another error when he says that "from 1866 to 1884 5,000,000 cattle went up this trail." Double that number, conveyed by 50,000 cowboys and 500,000 horses, were driven out of Texas between the years 1867 and 1888, many of them on the McKenzie Trail.

Trail driving activities began in 1868 in Bexar, Gonzales, DeWitt, Lavaca, Fayette, Wilson and Bastrop Counties, with an occasional herd out of Matamoros, Mexico. The word "maverck" emerged from the cattle-driving days of Sam Maverick of San Antonio, and all the cattle that he, Nick Miller, the Dillworths, Gladney and other of the McVeas drove to the Northern and Northwestern markets were gathered in the counties named. West Texas trail driving came later and lasted until the trail surrendered to cattle cars.

YOUNG BUSINESS MAN TAKES PLANO GIRL AS BRIDE

L. T. Durrett and Miss Addie Leon Young were happily united in marriage at the home of Rev. G. B. Bradshaw, pastor of the ... Baptist church, on North Church street Friday afternoon, October 27, at 4 o'clock. Rev. Mr. Bradshaw officiated with the ring ceremony. Mr. and Mrs. Clay Durrett were the only attendances.

Mrs. Durrett is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Young of Plano, and a popular young lady of that city. She attended the Plano public schools from which she graduated. She was married in a fall ensemble of jungle green, her accessories harmonizing in brown.

The groom is a son of Mrs. Julia Durrett of this city. He is a quiet clever young man, possessing many friends. He and his brother, Clay Durrett, will be associated in the grocery business, having recently leased The South End Grocery from T. J. Lane.

Mr. and Mrs. Durrett will make their home at 604 South Tennessee street.

M'KINNEY 25 Years Ago

Oct. 29, 1908

June Wilson of Bonham is visiting his sister, Mrs. George Wilcox.

Mrs. H. C. Pope and daughter, Miss Meda Von Pope, living east of town, are State fair visitors in Dallas today.

Mrs. J. W. Webb of this city and daughter, Mrs. E. W. Rollow, of Van Alstyne, are State fair visitors at Dallas today.

J. A. Jones and wife returned to their home at Athens today after a visit to the latter's sister, Mrs. George M. Wilson, and husband.

G. W. Scoggins, Berkshire swine breeder, has recently sold and shipped twenty-five good registered hogs to customers at other points.

Capt. T. M. Scott and Josiah Nichols, both of Melissa, attended the funeral of Uncle Alf Chandler yesterday who was one of their Mexican war comrades.

Dr. W. H. Baldridge and wife of Thurber, have returned home after a visit to their two McKinney sisters, Mrs. Buck Wilson and Mrs. B. E. Caskey.

John Dowell of the United States navy is en route to McKinney to visit his parents, Capt. J. S. Dowell and wife, and other relatives. He recently returned from a long cruise in Asiatic and European waters.

HOME STUDY GROUP IS BEING ORGANIZED HERE

Representatives of the LaSalle Extension university are in McKinney enrolling a number of ambitious young men and women in a Home Study group in Business Fundamentals.

This University is the largest and oldest of the better Home Study Schools, giving specialized training in major business subjects, and has enrolled in the twenty-five years of its existence, nearly 900,000 students.

The course is not a unit of the regular high school curricula. It is designed to give those young men and young ladies who are not able to go to college an opportunity to receive training through a nationally-approved extention plan. An arrangement has been made through which the group will be supervised by a member of the local high school faculty.

The course to be studied is designed to help the students to improve their knowledge of business and to increase their earning power.

Many of the larger national business institutions of America make the taking of such courses obligatory upon certain of their employees, and all recognize its value to the institution and to the student.

Full particulars regarding the course which includes a section on Modern Bookkeeping Practice, a section in Elements of Practical Accounting, a section on Office Practice and Management, with a short Psychology section, may be had from Prof. Earl Slaughter of the high school, or from representatives of the University at the Emerson hotel.

We acknowledge a visit Monday from C. A. Bryant, of Dallas, assistant state manager of the LaSalle Extension university.

District Court Is Resumed In City Monday

Fifty-Ninth District court was resumed in McKinney Monday morning, after a three weeks' recess during which time Judge F. E. Wilcox was in Longview holding court in that city. This is civil jury week, with many cases on the docket to come up for trial. Several of the cases were continued however.

The case of K. Hayes vs. T. & N. O. Railroad was continued, since Dr. S. J. Dobbs, a material witness for both sides, is confined to the city hospital following injuries sustained in an automobile accident Friday afternoon.

The next case called was that of E. M. Calton et al vs. N. A. Burton, a damage suit. Attorneys for the plaintiff are Hons. G. R. Smith, George P. Brown and Grover Burton. Defense attorneys are Hons. H. L. Davis and John Doyle.

Resolutions on the recent passing of G. E. Carpenter, a member of the Collin County Bar, were presented to the District Court Monday and adopted.

Dr. S. J. Dobbs who was injured Friday when the automobile in which he and his wife were riding, crashed into a concrete culvert east of this city, was resting some better Tuesday. Mrs. Dobbs passed away Sunday in the hospital as a result of injuries she received in the accident last Friday.

J. C. Bryom attended the McKinney-Denison game in that city Friday.

WEAK, ANEMIC

Mrs. W. L. Way of 1624 So. 10th St., St. Joseph, Mo., said: "My boy was in a weakened condition after an operation. He was losing weight steadily, was anemic, could hardly eat and had no strength or energy. A doctor recommended Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. He began to gain weight and strength and ate anything." Write Dr. Pierce's Clinic, Buffalo, N. Y. New size, tablets 50c, liquid $1.00. Large size, tabs. or liquid, $1.35. "We Do Our Part."

Why Doctors Favor a Liquid Laxative

A doctor will tell you that the careless choice of laxatives is a common cause of chronic constipation.

Any hospital offers evidence of the harm done by harsh laxatives that drain the system, weaken the bowel muscles, and even affect the liver and kidneys.

Fortunately, the public is fast returning to laxatives in liquid form. The dose of a liquid laxative can be measured. The action can thus be controlled. It forms no habit; you needn't take a "double dose" a day or two later.

Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin has the average person's bowels regulated as clockwork in a few weeks' time. Why not try it? Some pill or tablet may be more convenient to carry. But there is little "convenience" in any cathartic which is taken infrequently. you must carry it with you, wherever you go!

Its very taste tells you Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin is wholesome, delightful taste, and delightful action. Safe for expectant mothers, invalids, children. All druggists, ... 25c, 50c, $1 the bottle. (Number 20, B. A.

R. J. Osburn has returned from a several months visit with his children at Houston. His son, Tom Osburn, came up with him to visit his uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Henry E. Morgan, which couple largely reared him. For several years Tom has held a responsible position with the Humble Oil company.

Mrs. Ben Hill, Mrs. Fred Burnitt, both of this city and Mrs. Perry Burrus of Dallas are guests for a few days of Mrs. Glen Halsell in Fort Worth. While in that city they will be guests at several parties. Mrs. Halsell will be remembered as Miss Eugenia Hill, daughter of Mrs. Ben Hill.

According to a news item in the Celina Record, Mrs. Tom Cofer was killed recently in an auto wreck near Hobart, Oklahoma, and Ruth Parks was seriously injured. The Record says, "Mrs.

Mr. and Mrs. Ben Fitts spent the week-end in Dallas.

Means, elder, from Virginia Conference.

W. B. (Bartow) Chapman, wife and children moved to McKinney Tuesday from Denison where they moved to from Prosper several months ago. Mr. Chapman has accepted the McKinney agency of the Franklin Life Insurance company whose general agent is Maurice Miller of Sherman, a son of Hon. R. E. L. Miller of Celina. Bartow Chapman and wife were both reared at Prosper and are intimately known and highly appreciated throughout West Collin. They also have many McKinney friends and acquaintances. In fact, until he resigned last summer, Bartow Chapman was Post Commander of Jimmy Geigas Post, American Legion, here at McKinney. We join our other citizens in gladly welcoming this fine couple and four young sons as permanent residents of our city.

R. P. Jones of this city spent Sunday visiting his mother, Mrs. C. B. Jones, in Dallas. He also visited his sister, Mrs. B. A. Sturgis, husband and his little niece, Alfredda Sturgis. This sweet little Miss was born to his brother-in-law and sister on October

COLLIN COTTON GOOD QUALITY THIS YEAR

The cotton produced in Collin county is of much better quality this year than it was last year, according to information based on the classification, by the U. S. Department of Agriculture, Division of Cotton Marketing, of samples from Collin county gins. The greatest improvement is in staple length, the grades being slightly improved over last year. H. E. Carman of the Collin County Cotton Oil Co. Gin at Princeton and C. M. Hight of the Texhoma Gin at McKinney advised that their gins were designated by the Department of Agriculture to furnish a sample from each bale ginned. The samples are taken from the gin press box before the bales are pressed, and sent promptly to the classing office at Dallas. The bale by bale classifications are returned promptly to the ginners, who give them to farmers.

At Princeton, 97.5 per cent of the cotton showed Middling or better in grade, 39.6 per cent being Extra White in color, and 2.0 per cent Spotted. In staple, the Princeton community showed no cotton shorter than 7-8 inch, with 95 per cent 15-16 inch or longer, and 34 per cent 1 inch and longer.

At McKinney, 98.5 per cent of the cotton classed Middling or better in grade, 15 per cent being Extra White and 5. per cent Spotted. In staple, practically none was shorter than 7-8 inch, with 70 per cent 15-16 or longer, and 28 per cent 1 inch or longer.

Using the combined ginnings of the Princeton and McKinney gins as the base for an estimate, the grades of the cotton classed to date in the county this season are. Good Middling, 12 per cent; Strict Middling, 60 per cent; Middling, 26 per cent; Strict Low Middling, 2 per cent. Of this 27 per cent was Extra White and 7 per cent was Spotted. No cotton lower than Strict Middling has appeared so far. In staple, practically none was shorter than 7-8 inch; 18 per cent was 7-8 and 29-32 inch; 51 per cent was 15-16 and 31-32 inch; 31 per cent was 1 inch and 1-1-32 inch; and practically none 1-1-16 inch or longer. This year to date, 82 per cent of the cotton classed from the county ranged between 15-16 inch and 1-1-16 inches; for the entire 1932 season only 50 per cent was of these lengths. This improvement in the quality of cotton grown in the county this year means several thousand dollars increase in the income of farmers, assuming that proper premiums are received for the better qualities. Premiums will be paid for quality cotton when farmers plant improved seed in quantities sufficient to produce it in volume.

Through the cooperation of the Princeton and McKinney ginners mentioned, the Government bale by bale classifications are available within a few days after the cotton is ginned. Farmers are thus enabled to know exactly the kind of cotton they have for sale. They are also able to determine which varieties or types of cotton best meet their individual needs, in planning next year's cotton program.

In reducing the cotton acreage, the need for producing the type of cotton which best meets the market demand becomes more urgent. The problem in cotton production is quality. If quality cotton is produced in volume, gin turnout and pounds of lint per acre will become less important.

The Department of Agriculture issues weekly reports on the grade and staple of the cotton in this area. The individual bale classifications are given to the farmers without charge in return for their cooperation in furnishing a small sample from each bale ginned at the Princeton and McKinney gins. Farmers are interested in and at these gins for the classification of each bale they gin.

GRADE	1933 Season to Date Princeton (Per cent)	1933 Season to Date Princeton & McKy (Per cent)	Entire 1932 Season McKy (Per cent)
GRADE
Good Middling	12	11	2
St. Middling	58	62	32
Middling	27	25	49
St. Low Middling	3	2	13
Low Middling & Below	—	—	4
Extra White (all grades)	40	15	1
Spotted (all grades)	2	5	15
STAPLE
Shorter than 7-8	—	—	1
7-8 & 29-32	5	30	49
15-16 & 31-32	61	42	49
1" and 1-1-32	34	28	1
1-1-16 and over	—	—	1

For the two gins this season to date, 92 per cent of the cotton shows normal, or average to good preparation (ginning) and 8 per cent slightly rough preparation. Princeton shows 95 per cent normal with 5 per cent slightly rough, and McKinney shows 89 per cent normal with 11 per cent slightly rough.

FUNERAL RITES HELD THURSDAY FOR R. E. MOORE

Impressive funeral rites for the late R. E. (Uncle Bob) Moore, pioneer Northeast Collin citizen, residing in the Wallis Chapel community, who passed away Wednesday at his farm home, eight miles northeast of McKinney, were conducted there at 2:00 o'clock Thursday afternoon by Rev. A. L. Clinkenbeard, his pastor, of Dallas; assisted by Rev. John Gaines of the Corinth Presbyterian church at Parker.

The deceased was a member of the Melissa Christian church.

A large number of friends and relatives gathered at the services to pay final tribute to this respected old pioneer citizen who had spent most of his life on the same farm in the Wallis Chapel community.

He was ninety-two years old and had spent seventy-six years on his home farm where he died. He was a native of Springfield, Illinois.

Surviving are two sons and three daughters—Winfred and Joe Moore of Melissa; Mrs. W. M. Shipley of McKinney, Mrs. Jim Barnett of McKinney and Mrs. E. G. Tribbett of Los Angeles, California; also eleven grandchildren and seven great-grandchildren.

Pallbearers were grandsons and great-grandsons as follows: Doris Lindsey, Alvin Lindsey, John Howerton, Murray Moore, Kenneth Moore, George Moore and Will Roberts.

PLANO LIONS HEAR ADDRESS BY CONG. RAYBURN

H. H. Neilson, Orlia J. Moss, Ed Blakeman, Leo Spillman and Chas. W. Graves, all of this city, attended a meeting of the Plano Lions club held Thursday noon in that South Collin town. Hon. Sam Rayburn, representative from the Fourth Congressional district, Bonham, was the principal speaker of the occasion.

Dr. Hicks presided over the luncheon, introducing Orlia J. Moss of McKinney who introduced H. H. Neilson. Mr. Neilson presented Congressman Rayburn to the Plano Lions and their visitors.

McKinney, Renner, Murphy, Wylie, Frisco and other Collin county towns were represented at the luncheon.

Congressman Rayburn made a timely address, which was greatly enjoyed and well received.

Mr. and Mrs. Clay Durrett and Miss Kathleen Runnion recently spent a day or two in Ada, Okla., where they went to visit their uncle, Ed Runnion and their grandmother, Mrs. O. C. Spencer, there. Ed Runnion is well-known in this city where he was connected several years with the mechanical department of the Daily Courier-Gazette and the Weekly Democrat-Gazette. He has not been in the best of health recently but is now showing slight improvement. He sent regards to his many friends here through his nieces, Mrs. Durrett and Miss Runnion.

John H. Ferguson, prominent McKinney citizen, who has been ill for the past several days, showed marked improvement Tuesday.

WHOLESALE GROCER

LEE R. HOOVER
Manager Paris Grocery Co.
McKinney, Texas

PARIS GROCERY COMPANY PLEASED WITH M'KINNEY

AFTER BEING HERE 12 YEARS RE-LEASES SAME BUILDING

As an evidence of his appreciation of McKinney as a commercial center as the choice business territory of North Texas, the Paris Grocery Company has re-leased, for a term of years, the Reeves & Smith one-story brick building erected especially for it ten years ago on East Louisiana street.

This big wholesale house first came to McKinney twelve years ago, occupying quarters in the Heard building on West Louisiana street in which the S. E. Walker Hardware and Furniture store is now located. L. R. Hoover, who has been with the Paris Grocery Company for twenty-four years both as a substantial stockholder and manager of their McKinney house ever since the latter located here twelve years ago, has firmly established himself and his concern in the business and civic life of our city and county.

The business has gone through a difficult period during the depression, but has enjoyed such favor at the hands of its many faithful patrons that it has released the building and expects to continue to remain here and grow with our splendid expanding little city and help along the development of a wide extent of territory of which McKinney is the trading center. Their building is 100x110 feet in dimensions and has a deck that increases their floor space by fifty per cent. The business is located on a paved street with especially constructed covered-in entrance for loading trucks and delivery wagons, besides also owning 110 feet of trackage on the T. & N. O. Railway, all of which makes an ideal location for receiving and shipping out stock to their many customers.

Besides Mr. Hoover, manager, the McKinney house has the following office force: Bradley Hoover, Miss Kathryn Foster, Richard Carr ,and the following salesmen: John W. Akin, city salesman and W. T. Oglesby and George Sportsman, outside salesmen. They also have six warehouse and truck men.

Old Concern.

The Paris Grocery company organized its wholesale business, at Paris, Texas, forty-three years ago. Since which time, it has established six other houses—at McKinney, Greenville, Sulphur Springs, Clarksville, all in Texas, and Hugo and Idabel, both in the state of Oklahoma. However, McKinney is the only place that the corporation doesn't own its own building.

The Reeves & Smith building is so ideally located and pleases them so well that the firm prefers leasing to buying it or to building its own quarters at a less desirable location.

The present officials of the Paris Grocery organization as a whole is headed by William Milling, president, and R. C. (Bob) Lane both of Paris, general manager.

Since locating here, Mr. Hoover has purchased a home and identified himself in every worthwhile community activity along church and Chamber of Commerce lines. He is regarded as one of our most capable, useful and estimable business men. His good lady is one of our most cultured and charming society, church and club women. Their only child, Bradley Hoover, married a McKinney girl, and he too has established himself in a home of his own in our city. The Paris Grocery company and those in charge of it locally are the type of concerns and people that cause villages to grow into towns and help towns to develop into pretentious cities.

The home of R. A. Furr and wife on North Tennessee street is adorned by some bright red Prince feathers or coxcomb growing in a fringe around the residence. These beautiful plants are now showing up at their best. Mr. Furr owns the North End grocery. His residence adjoins his store on the South.

TEACHERS MUST FILE CONTRACTS WITH COUNTY SUPT.

County Superintendent of Schools L. Dow Hendricks and his assistant, Malcolm Walters, announce that all teachers of the county schools must have their contract on file in the county superintendent's office before they receive any compensation on this year's fees as teachers. These contracts—with the trustees of their districts—are very important and must be on file as above stated, if payment of salary is to be made.

They also announce that all school districts in the county must have their budget filed at the county superintendent's office before any of the district's vouchers are paid. This is likewise very important and the superintendent and his assistant are urging all trustees and teachers to look into this matter and have it attended to at once.

FORMER M'KINNEY LADIES HURT IN CAR ACCIDENT

DAUGHTERS MR. AND MRS. H. M. BRYANT, OF PUEBLO, COLORADO

While en route to their home in Pueblo, Colo., Mrs. Paul R. Gordon and Miss Annie Vera Bryant, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. H. M. Bryant, of McKinney, sustained painful, though not serious injuries, in an automobile accident west of Denton, Monday afternoon.

Mrs. Gordon, who was driving, said the car got out from under her control on a short turn and went headlong into a ditch. Miss Annie Vera was thrown through the windshield of the car.

They were brought to the home of a sister, Mrs. Carl Bell, at Prosper, where they are recovering and resting up from their mishap. Both Mrs. Gordon and Miss Bryant formerly resided here where they have many friends, who will regret to learn of their injuries, but who will be glad so know their injuries were not more serious.

Their car was badly demolished.

A. D. Hope and wife visited their sister-in-law, Mrs. Reece Hope, Sunday, in the hospital at Bonham. Mrs. Reece Hope lives at Leonard. She underwent a major surgical operation about a week ago. They found the patient to be getting along satisfactorily on the road to recovery. She is the mother of Marvin Hope who clerks in the A. D. Hope & Son big hardware and furniture store of this city.

Miss Connelly Ruth Snider, who is nursing in Bradford Memorial hospital, Dallas, has been visiting her parents, Rev. and Mrs. A. H. Snider, in this city. Miss Snider is a graduate of the McKinney City Hospital nurses' school.

Smith, George Wilcox, McCarty Moore, R. R. Allen, G. M. Alsup, J. L. White, Dr. E. L. Burton, Arthur L. Anderson, W. B. Carpes, Tom W. Perkins, Walter F. Wilson and F. C. Thompson.

SEEN HERE AND THERE

Did the Spooks get you Tuesday night? . . . What a crowd that was thronging downtown streets Halloween night . . . So dense was the crowd, in fact, it was difficult to make one's way, whether a pedestrian or a motorist . . . Down at the coliseum, the J. H. Hill school P.-T. A. carnival held sway, with hundreds of big spooks and little spooks having the time of their lives . . . It was a typical carnival, believe us, with bingo stand, fishing pond, minstrel show, fortune teller and other concessions, too numerous to mention . . . Henry W. Warden and Gibson Caldwell, arm in arm, enjoying the sights . . . The minstrel was worth much more than the dime admission charged . . . It was on a par with any minstrel presented here in recent years . . . The end men and those in the circle performed like veterans—and they are veterans, for all have had previous stage experience . . . Every number was good, and creditable, but that song, "The Last Round-Up," by Dr. Bryce Miller, was well worth the price of admission . . . We've heard that number over the radio numerous times, but none excelled the way it was put over Tuesday evening by Dr. Miller . . . We'll say here that the ladies of the Hill school P.-T. A. are deserving of all the compliments coming their way today because of that successful carnival.

NO NICKELS LEFT

If you attended that Hill school P.-T. A. carnival down at the coliseum Tuesday night, you're lucky if you have any pocket change left. There were so many things to spend nickels for, with all that ballyhoo going on, the person who escaped with any change is lucky, and we don't mean maybe.

S. M. U. vs. TEXAS

From talk going on around town this week, McKinney will be well represented at that S. M. U.-Texas football game in Dallas Saturday. Those Mustangs and Longhorns are really going to put up a great battle for the fans, and no foolin.'

DUCK SEASON OPENS

Once each year, you can see broad smiles on the faces of local nimrods, meaning of course that the duck season has opened again. As the clock struck 12 at noon today, if you chanced to be at Club Lake or at any other body of water, you would have heard report after report from guns, in the hands of hunters anxious to get their day's quota on the opening date of the season.

THEY'RE PLENTIFUL

Reports from Club Lake have it that ducks are plentiful at that resort. In view of the fact the season is open until Dec. 31, it looks like a hard season for the ducks. We had a long talk this week with Roy Kirkpatrick, secretary of Club Lake, and he assured us nimrods would find plenty of entertainment in shooting at the ducks while the season is open.

THAT P.-T. A. CARNIVAL

Folks in the downtown business district Tuesday afternoon who heard a siren and who ran out to the streets to see the cause, beheld scores of gaily-decorated spooks—boys and girls parading about the square, in weird-looking costumes, advertising the annual J. H. Hill school P.-T. A. carnival, staged Tuesday night down at the coliseum. "Your Home Town" was there and thoroughly enjoyed the many and varied attractions. There was the minstrel and numerous other attractions to entertain and delight everyone. Altogether, it was regarded as the most outstanding Halloween carnival ever staged in McKinney.

THERE'S A REASON

There is a reason why events sponsored by the Hill school P.-T. A. prove such a success in our home town. The membership of this active and livewire Parent-Teacher organization is made up of some of our city's most active and well-known ladies, who put their whole heart and soul into any enterprise they sponsor. Mrs. H. H. Neilson, president; Mrs. Roy Caldwell, Mrs. Gibson Phelps, Mrs. Roy L. Brockman, and scores of others of McKinney's best known club women work with zeal and enthusiasm whenever they sponsor such events as the Halloween carnival.

Former County Tax Assessor A. T. Raper, who has been seriously ill at his home on North Church street in this city for several days, is now showing some improvement. He was resting much easier Tuesday morning after a good night.

Elbert Davis, living on Celina, Route 2, was operated on for gall bladder trouble at the Sherman hospital on Monday morning. His condition is regarded as satisfactory, and he is expected to soon recover.

THE RETIRING PRESIDING ELDER IS HONORED

Most of the preachers of the McKinney District and several of their wives an dchildren, surprised Dr. and Mrs. H. G. Ryan at the District parsonage on North Church street here Tuesday night with a farewell visit.

Through Dr. Claude M. Simpson, retiring pastor of the First church here, they presented a beautiful and valuable traveling bag to Dr. Ryan who has served them so helpfully and in a consecrated manner during the past three years as their presiding elder. Many regrets were voiced that he was not permitted to serve out his fourth year. Several of the pastors came from churches in Dallas county, some below the city of Dallas, who are in the McKinney District. Dr. Simpson paid a deserved tribute to the fidelity and efficiency of Dr. Ryan during the past three hectic years of the depression as Presiding Elder. Dr. Ryan, feelingly responded.

He and his talented wife and children leave Thursday for Clarksville where he goes as pastor for the ensuing year.

CHRISTIAN

but the day was not without its romance in that Wylie used to be the home of Editor and Mrs. Tom W. Perkins. It was in this little church that Senator and Mrs. Perkins were married, and in this little Collin county town his career as a publisher began. Mrs. Perkins, who was a daughter of Bro. Ben Faulkner, a pioneer Christian minister, was present at the Tuesday meeting and especially enjoyed the day because of this little touch of romance. Mrs. Don O. Davis and Mrs. Chas. Waide had a special meeting of the women at the noon hour — they talked together about the county work among the women of the churches.

Next Meeting In 1934.

The next meeting will be held early in 1934, the time depending largely on the entertaining church. The meetings are so organized that as the name indicates, it is simply a fellowship meeting. There is no propaganda, no offerings except as expenses for postage is needed by the secretary. This is generally taken care of in one meeting of the year. It is meant to be just as free and democratic as at all possible. Whoever spends a day in one of these wonderful fellowship meetings will have happier days ahead. It is impossible to attend and not have the burden lifted from life's drab day and a new song of cheer and courage put in the heart and upon the tongue.

Among those from McKinney attending were: Dr. and Mrs. C. S. Weaver, Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Graves, Mesdames Don Davis, Chas. Waide, Fate Glenn, Dick Faulkner, S. F. Cook, Bob Bowman, J. C. Bowman, Annie Strode, Dick Massie, Bob Moore, Susan Horn, Boone Johnson, Leonard Cole, Jesse Coffey, G. C. Walters, Tom W. Perkins, Arbie Sparlin, and Misses Fannie Wilson, Helen Johnson and Miss Johnson, the latter of Princeton.

VINEY GROVE NO. 2

Mrs. Henry Thomas

Mrs. R. D. Tompkins, Mrs. C. H. Kite, Mrs. Edgar Rockley were shopping in McKinney Saturday.

Bill Thomas and wife and little daughter, Mrs. Bennitt Capps and daughters, Miss Letty Bell, Nelceon, all visited their sister and daughter, Mrs. Ralph Harpol and husband, in Grayson county.

Silas Brooks and family of Bishop and Mr. and Mrs. Mathew Love and baby of Wetsel all visited Mr. and Mrs. W. P. Hartsell one day lats week.

Mrs. Fred Self of Dallas spent the week-end with her parents.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Morrison and children visited his mother, Mrs. A. C. Morrison at McKinney Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Chester McGraw visited his parents at Princeton recently.

Curtis Evans of Bomar's Chapel, Glen and Wade Hartsell, T. L. Bagwell, Willard Morrison all spent Sunday with Fred and Dowell Thomas.

Mr. and Mrs. Wallis Gilbert and baby visited the latter's mother, Mrs. R. D. Tompkins, recently.

Mrs. Clara Mack spent Saturday evening with Mrs. Lula Mack of Princeton.

School started here the 16th. Miss Fay Stroup of Verona and Mack McMillian of McKinney are the teachers.

Miss C. H. Kite is attending school at Princeton.

Mrs. Ella Walker and daughter, Miss Alma, shopped in McKinney Saturday.

John K. Wilson of Princeton was in our community on business.

Edgar Monk and family visited his parents at Climax Sunday.

Miss Ila Walker is attending school at Blue Ridge.

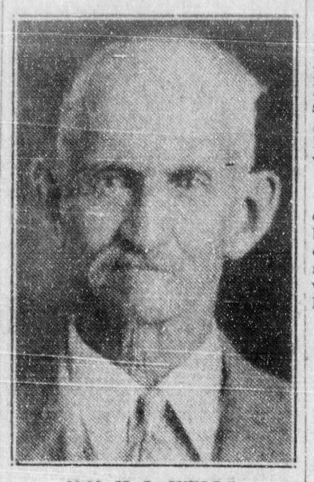
93 and Still Vigorous



WM. H. L. WELLS
Born in Virginia Sept. 4, 1840, Came to Collin in 1871.

Mr. Wells is a Confederate veteran who settled on his farm near Piano about 60 years ago. He recently spoke to the old soldiers, wives and widows and Daughters of Confederacy at McKinney on his trip the past summer to the battlefield of Gettysburg in which he participated and other battles of Virginia and adjacent states under Lee.

Monroe Orenduff And Family Visit Here From Bonham

Mr. and Mrs. Monroe Orenduff and children of Bonham, former well-known residents of this county, visited near McKinney Sunday. They had dinner with Mr. and Mrs. Joe Crump, who reside five miles north of the city. In the afternoon they visited in the homes of J. W. Wilmeth and O. C. Harris in the Chambersville community.

Mr. and Mrs. Orenduff's eldest son, Monroe, Jr., is a senior in Austin college at Sherman. Their daughter, Miss Bessie Mae, is a member of this year's graduating class of Bonham High school and their youngest son, Arba Raymond, will finish from the grammar school in Bonham.

VISITORS IN THE HOME OF MRS. PLUMMER HARRIS

Mrs. I. H. Gibson of Nashville, Tenn., is a guest in the home of her aunt, Mrs. Plummer Harris. Mrs. Gibson will be happily remembered in McKinney as Miss Mary Bates. She is the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Lee Bates and with her parents resided in McKinney a number of years ago. Her mother was a sister of the late Plummer Harris.

Mrs. W. F. Arledge of Houston visited her mother, Mrs. Harris, here this week, and Sunday another daughter, Mrs. Brevard Weaks, of Bonham, came up to see her mother and also to be with her cousin, Mrs. Gibson.

Needs or Our Public Library Pointed Out

As chairman of City Federation I would like to call attention to the Public library and its needs. If you have not visited it, and talked with the well informed librarian, Miss Fay Wilcox, do so. Sit there awhile and note the many visitors, the young especially who come, looking for help in school and club work. It will inspire you to become a member, or give a membership to some girl or boy, who love to read and study should we not be the one, to help along literary lines, to help make the future generations a well informed worthwhile generation? "He can not fail of happiness who has the bookish temperment. He should be rich beyond envy?"

Books are true equalizers. The devotee of books has the company of the great philosophers and the master minds.

Longfellow said "He has his Rome, his Florence, his whole glowing Italy, but in the four walls of his library. He has his books the ruins of an antique world, and the glories of a modern one."

Over the door of the library at Theber is this inscription, "Medicine for the soul."

Help in the library by making it a visit. Give a worthwhile book. Good books are needed, especially children's books. Send your magazines, after you have read them, in order, many go there to rest and read a worthwhile story.

Thanking you for what you may do.

MRS. E. L. BURTON,
President City Federation.
MRS. NEWTON BURKETT,
Secretary.

The old injury jinx, despoiler of many magnificent football teams, crept into the stronghold of the McKinney High Lions at Newsome Field during the first three days of this week taking as its toll Carroll Adair, first string end; Robert Forte, the mainspring of the backfield; "Bowlegs" Lovel, first string center; P. G. Murray, second string quarterback; and Tom McBee, the Lions star tackle and punter.

E. Hughston Campbell was in McKinney, Monday evening, en route back to his home in Dallas, 2442 Clarendon Drive, where he has been for a year or more holding a position with the United States Postal service. He had been at Cullecka visiting his sister, Mrs. R. G. Akins, and family. He is a son of C. T. Campbell, a veteran resident of McKinney and vicinity who is also living in Dallas now with his son. Houston Campbell is a moral, upright young man who richly deserves the high esteem in which he is held.

Prof. S. C. Stephens, former county superintendent of schools, has accepted the agency in this county of the Amicable Life Insurance company, of Waco. He will maintain headquarters in McKinney.

THE OWL CLUB, THE ENTRE NOUS CLUB, THE JEANNE d 'ARC CLUB, THE HALYCON CLUB TO BE HOSTESSES TO LADIES OF McKINNEY

The ladies of the city of McKinney are cordially invited to be the guests of the Owl club, the Entre Nous club, the Jeanne d 'Arc club and the Halcyon club on Friday afternoon, November the third at 3 o'clock at the First Christian church. The clubs have planned an afternoon of entertainment which they believe will be a treat for their guests. There will be no special invitations passed and everyone is invited and welcome.

Miss Rebecca Smith, who is at the head of the English department of T. C. U., Ft. Worth, will review Galsworthy's last book, "One More River."

The Wanderers Trio radio entertainers over Station WRR, Dallas, will render a short musical program.

A. M. Russell, well-known and progressive loan man, is having his nice home on North Church street repainted. Will Jackson, painter, has the contract.

Prof. Lyman D. Robinson, principal of the Boyd High school, and cultured wife gave a Halloween party, Monday night, at their home, 902 West Virginia street, to Mrs. Robinson's Sunday school class of young girls of the First Methodist church. Games, such as Bingo, were played, Halloween favors were given and refreshments carrying out the Halloween colors were served to the merry young girls who composed the class as follows: Mary Bob Crump, Nell Welch, Cecilia Littlejohn, Juanita Lane, Margaret Harper, Janelle Washburn, Marguerite Farnsworth, Margareth Ware and Mary Jo Hamilton.

Rev. Roy Stanley has been called to the Bethel Baptist church for two Sundays a month. He is now doing full time work, having the pastorates of the churches at Light's Chapel in Denton county and Jacob Routh, four miles east of McKinney.

Mrs. W. C. McDade of Bonham and three children, Jimmy and Misses Bobbie and Lyda, spent the past week-end in McKinney, guests of ex-County Tax Collector Henry E. Morgan and wife.

A CENTURY OF PROGRESS IN SIX DAYS

(BY JAS. M. MUSE)

CHAPTER V

Down the Midway.

I caught a street car which took me to the 23rd Street Gate, and let me into the very centre of the grounds. The first thing that claimed my attention was

◆ ◆ ◆

The Belgian Village.

It was surrounded by an old brick wall, and on the inside I found the buildings also of brick, as well as the pavement of those up-hill and down-hill streets; and all of it looked like it had been built many hundreds of years ago. How they could make recent brick and mortar construction look so ancient, I can not imagine. It must have been an exact replica of a Belgian village in the old country; otherwise it could not have been so quaint.

There was a number of shops in those queer houses—many of them selling curios; but I hememberalso the butcher shop, grocery store and other stores, newspaper office, the "Cafe Leopold," the "Donjon of Torture," which last harked back to the Middle Ages.

There was a milk car standing out in the street with some half dozen copper milk cans in it, which caught my eye and I noticed that several others were also interested. While we were standing near it, a neat looking little Belgian girl came up with three large fine looking dogs and proceeded to harness them to it, three abreast. One of the dogs lay down in the traces as soon as she got the leather harness on him. A lady in our crowd leaned over and, patted his broad head, said,

"Poor fellow, he's tired, like all the rest of us."

Then the little Belgian girl began to tell us in her broken English, how she came across alone, just she and her dogs and milk wagon, and that the only way she had to maintain herself was by the sale of soucenirs. The appeal was irresistable and the crowd bought.

Among those Midway shows there were a number of buildings containing exhibits of commercial and manufacturing, concerns, intended primarily to advertise their wares; but some of them were pretty good shows to me nevertheless. The A. & P. stores had a free open air theater, and also an open air place where meals were served. The Firestone Tire company made tires in their building, by means of a long machine with glass sides, so that you could see everything that was taking place, from the raw rubber and cotton to the finished tire. A baking company had a machine, with glass sides also, that made and cooked doughnuts, turning them, browning them on both sides, rolling them in powdered sugar, and delivering them hot and tasty. The General Motors company in their building were building "Chivvies"—putting them together and finishing them before your eyes. This is merely to illustrate the nature of these exhibits; there were a great number of others of the same kind.

I recognized two old friends, made at the Dallas Fair: The Battle of Gettysburg, and the Pantheon (World War Show). And from there on Naughty Shows.

It seems that every Midway has to have some shows that try to draw custom by advertising themselves as terribly wicked.

Now I know I am a natural born sucker, one of the kind that bites in season and out of season; but even that kind of a poor fish will get hook-shy after awhile, especially if the same bate is used. Most of these shows are really not as bad inside as the ballyhoo on the outside would indicate; and a fellow that goes in generally comes out, looking sheepish and feeling like he did not get his money's worth. I passed them up, even Sally Rand the fan dancer who got so much free publicity in the newspapers.

I wandered on down the line and came to

The Sinclair Prehistoric Exhibit.

Several oil companies have been using the picture of a dinosaur in their advertising, and apparently trying to make the impression that their oil is superior because it comes from the bodies of dinosaurs; but there is no reason for supposing that the flesh of that extinct race of monsters had any more to do with furnishing the raw material from which Nature, in her great geo-chemical laboratories, distilled those tubteranean pools of oil, than did the bodies of other animals and plants. On the contrary the great East Texas pools are found in the Woodbine sands, a formation that was laid down long after the last dinosaur had disappeared from earth; and oil has been discovered as low down the geologic column as the Devonian formation, which was laid down long before the first dinosaur lived on the earth.

Nevertheless Harry Sinclair's company have staged quite an elaborate free, outdoor show of dinosaurs, restored as nearly as possible to their appearance when living. The restorations were almost lifelike. The "animals" could bat their eyes, open and close their mouths, and sway their heads from side to side.

The setting for the show was an imitation of a very coarse deep red sandstone formation. I imagine it was intended to represent the Old Red Sandstone, which has been thought to be the lowest sedimentary formation, caused by the first erosion of the granite floors that underlie the earth's crust. [illegible] hence lying directly on top of the basal igneous rocks. If I am correct in supposing that he intended it to represent the Old Red, then he committed a serious geologic anachronism, because no trace of life of any kind has been found in the Old Red and none is believed to have existed on earth at that time.

If Harry had wished to build his dinosaur playground upon rocks such as those reptilian monsters, actually lived upon, he should have come to me. I would have taken him to a point on the Paluxy River in the eastern part of the little town of Glenrose, Texas, where there is a natural dinosaur playground of great moss-covered boulders, lying in the wide bed of the stream and causing the shallow waters to divide and go around them. I know this was a place where dinosaurs lived, and these were the kind of rocks they lived among, because their peculiar three-toed tracks are in that limestone to this day.

Notwithstanding the fact that I can not give Harry A-plus on historical geology, I will have to admit that quite a number of Fair visitors got a big kick out of passing under the arched opening cut in one of those big rocks—especially if they happened to glance up and see a forty-ton brontosaurus mounted on top of that rock, that had a habit of peeping at the folks who passed through that opening under him, and winking his eyes and champing his teeth about two feet above their heads!

Inside the rock-bound enclosure were a number of other "restored" dinosaurs. Among these were Stegosaurus nosing around in his sluggish style, and Triceratops, the three horned dinosaur with the big neck shield. This last mentioned was always presenting his horns in an attitude of wanting to give a battle to everything and everybody who approached near him.

I walked on down to the south end of the grounds, past the military encampment, the queer habitations of the various tribes of Indians, the exhibit of houses of the future built of various materials—one of iron, one of glass, one of a material called rostone, one of masonite, etc. Then there were the historic log cabins—old Fort Dearborn, the Du Sable cabin and that of Father Marquette—then the Lincoln group.

There were a number of buildings occupied by foreign nations, at which I took a cursory glance—Mexico, Denmark and Norway, Luxemburg, China, Japan, Czechoslovakia, Sweden, Morocco, Spain, Costa Rica, etc. I was interested in the Egyptain Pavilion, not so much in its characteristic sculpture, mummies etc., but in the fine furniture made of some dark wood and inlaid with silver and mother of pearl. It was of unique design and was by far the most beautiful I had ever seen certainly fit to grace Pharaoh's palace. They also had an exhibit of their long staple cotton, in which they seemed to take great pride. I saw no special German exhibit, unless the Rathskeller represents them, and one dinner there was enough to do me the rest of my life.

The Motif of the Exposition.

The Travel and Transport Building shows strikingly the progress made in that respect during the last century, in the transition from "wagons to wings," and is striking exemplifications of the motif of the Fair. (Don't you printers dare to mess up my French by spelling that word "Motive.")

In the Sears Roebuck Building I found another fine example of the same thing. When an electric light is switched on lighting up a room it reveals a kitchen of 1833, with a fire-place and crude cooking utensils, characteristic of that age before the invention of stoves. It reminded me very much of the one in Gen. Washington's home at Mt. Vernon. Then the light is switched off and in a few moments comes on again, revealing, apparently in the same spot, a 1933 kitchen, shining with enameled ware and aluminum, with gas and electric appliances and all modern conveniences. I do not know how this effect was produced, but it certainly was a striking demonstration.

◆ ◆ ◆

The World a Million Years Ago.

I guess when a fellow gets a taste for dinosaurs it is just like anything else—he goes on and makes a hog out of himself. I had already seen the Sinclair exhibit, but I paid my two-bits and started into this show, because it had some of those beasts on the outside.

Just as I stepped inside the show house, I found that I could hardly stand up. The thought flashed through my mind:

"Is it an earthquake, or has 3.2 got me?"

I grabbed at a post to steady myself, but had to let go almost at once when I discovered that the floor under me was slowly moving and carrying me with it. It was a great relief to discover that it was nothing more serious. I was content to stand still and allow the boards upon which I was standing to carry me around the outer rim of that showhouse, while I gave my whole attention to the strange "animals" as they moved about and made the most unearthly noises.

There was a great hairy mammoth such as they find frozen in Siberian and Alaskan ice; a big ape six feet high and three feet broad; a glyptodon, (I'll bet you don't know what that is.); pterodactyls wired up in flying attitude above us; a number of saurians, some of species with which I was not familiar; an allosaurus (sure spelling as made [illegible] smaller saurian in his mouth, and every time he would come down on the little fellow with his teeth, he would open his mouth and let out an earpiercing squaw. (I guess the little one had a bellows inside like one of these mama dolls.) It was a nightmare, but a lot of kids on the board walk in front of me seemed to be getting a great kick out of it.

The many two-bits shows on the grounds reminded me of what I once heard a man say about an old auto—that it would just two-bit you to death. When I was in New York in 1931 it seemed to me that the Least Common Denominator was five cents; but in Chicago I think it is two-bits.

Admiral Byrd's Ship.

I had walked all over the south end of that 424 acres, so I dropped down on a seat near the Lake shore, and within six or eight feet of where the "City of New York," the ship in which Admiral Byrd made his trip to Little America and the South Pole, was moored.

It was an old, weatherbeaten, three-mast, wooden sailing ship, with no funnels, and so far as I could see with no engines or power—nothing modern looking about it. I was told that its wooden bottom was ten feet thick and the sides three feet; and that some of the men and dogs that went to Antarctica with the Admiral were on board. The price for boarding the ship, however, was two-bits, and I had got tired of being two-bitted. So I looked at it from the outside only.

The Avenue of Flags.

I got up and walked on a place and dropped down on another seat alongside the Avenue of Flags.

A great stream of people was flowing down that street under those huge crimson banners, and I looked for a long time trying to find a familiar face in all those thousands, but I could not. The effect was depressing.

It was Friday afternoon, and I had not had a word from home. Also I knew they had not heard from me. I had mailed my letters that morning in a mail box in the lobby of the hotel right by the side of the elevator that carried me up to my room every night. I guess that mail box had been there all the time, but I never saw it until that morning.

I made up my mind right then and there that I would leave the hotel the next morning, check my grips in the depot, and catch the night train for home Saturday.

McKinney Methodists At Denison

McKinney Methodists were well represented at Denison on the last day of the Sixty-Seventh Annual Conference, at Denison, Sunday. Among those present in addition to the three ministers Dr. H. G. Ryan, presiding elder; Dr. Claude M. Simpson, pastor of First Church and Rev. E. B. Jackson, pastor of the South Wilcox Street Methodist church, were Mrs. H. G. Ryan, Mrs. Claude M. Simpson, Gibson Caldwell and wife, W. Hammond Moore and wife, Wallace Houghston and wife, Roy Caldwell and wife, Mrs. Frank W. Emerson, Mrs. E. L. Burton, Mrs. R. G. McCain and Mrs. Florence Warden.

Mrs. Claude M. Simpson, Judge Wallace Hughston and Walter B. Wilson were three of the eight lay delegates of the McKinney District. Judge Hughston and Mrs. C. M. Simpson were both elected as two of the eight lay delegates to the General Conference to be held next April for three weeks at Jackson, Mississippi. Judge Hughston was elected on the first ballot and by virtue of his receiving more votes than any other, is the leader of the lay delegation to that quadrennial body. Dr. H. G. Ryan of McKinney was also elected as one of the eight clerical delegates, making three of the sixteen delegates from McKinney in this conference.

This Annual Conference embraces a large number of counties in North and Northeast Texas and contains a membership of nearly 100,000. It includes such cities as Dallas, Wichita Falls, Paris, Greenville, Terrell and Clarksville and other territories.

Homecoming At Parker Church

Our office received a welcome visit Thursday from Rev. J. A. Gaines of Parker, who came in to announce a homecoming of the Corinth Presbyterian church at Parker the first Sunday in next month, November 5. It will be an all-day affair, starting about 10:00 o'clock and closing about 4:00 o'clock, with dinner on the ground at noon.

Dr. E. O. Whitewell, pastor of the Central Presbyterian church, of McKinney, will preach at the morning hour, while in the afternoon J. H. Sneed of this city will give an historical sketch of that church. There will be musical numbers including quartets, duets and others, talks and readings and an altogether enjoyable all-day program. The church is expected to be crowded to capacity throughout the day.

Rev. Gaines informed these editors that this is one of the oldest churches in this county and also in North Texas, having been established in 1843, this being their nintieth year. They also hope to make this homecoming an annual affair.

NORTH COLLIN PIONEER VIGOROUS AND GOING STRONG

Ex-County Tax Collector John W. McKinney of Anna as in McKinney, Friday, en route home from a visit to his son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Guy Stinnett, in the Foote community, six miles west of town. While here, he briefly visited his son, J. W. McKinney, Jr., who runs a filling station at the corner of North Tennessee and East Hunt streets. Mr. McKinney was eighty-four years old on the twenty-second day of last June. He is a remarkably well preserved man to be in his eightly-fifth year, still having all of his teeth sound as ever, reads nuwspapers without the aid of galsses, eats reasonably hearty and sleeps well. He has always taken a great deal of interest in politics and is an ardent admirer and friend of Congressman Sam Rayburn, who was in McKinney for the day to fill some speaking engagements.

Uncle John McKinney is a son of the late W. C. (Uncle Billy) McKinney, who was a son of Collin McKinney, one of the signers of the Texas Declaration of Independence, one of our state's early patriots and pioneer lawmakers and after whom McKinney and Collin county take their names. Uncle John still lives on and owns the old Collin McKinney farm near which he was born.

These editors were happy to receive a pleasant call from him. He is a regular reader of the Daily Courier-Gazette. He and his family look forward to its daily's visits with the utmost of pleasure and interest.

NEW HOPE

Mrs. J. L. Hudson

FROM THE FILES OF THE DAILY COURIER-GAZETTE

Oct. 28, 1908

Attorney J. M. Muse and father, Tom H. Muse, each hand in a one dollar bill for the Billy Bryan Democratic campaign fund.

Capt. J. M. Bryan, a staunch citizen and Democrat of the Chambersville community, was a business caller at our office today.

Col and Mrs. R. C. Strickland of Tulsa, Okla., are visiting relatives at or near McKinney. They own a farm about three miles southeast of town.

Ex-Sheriff W. S. Coffey showed us a sweet potato today grown on one of his farms by J. A. Utley, that weighed eleven and a quarter pounds.

Mrs. L. C. Clifton is president of the Owl club. Her inaugural address comprehends so much of civic improvement and helpfulness to all women and good to everyone that we are herewith publishing same.

Our city was shocked today at news of the tragic death of J. A. Rogers, for many years a McKinney merchant. He was moving with his family to Muskogee, Okla., and was run over by a train at Whitewright last night and instantly killed. His cousin County Treasurer Joe B. Rogers, left McKinney at once for Whitewright. Also John R. Brown and R. F. Dowell. The remains arrived in McKinney at 3:30 o'clock this afternoon and were taken to the home of his niece, Mrs. Will V. Tieknor and husband on West Hunt street.

We are now actively making loans at 10 cents per pound on any and all cotton brought us in connection with the United States government's plan of making these loans.

If you are interested, put your cotton in a bonded warehouse, bring us your tickets and we can fix you up in 5 minutes on these 10-cents-per-pound loans.

R. M. Johnson Jr., 15, son of R. M. Johnson Sr., who resides in South McKinney, sustained a fractured right arm and leg when he fell off the T. & N. O. Railway trestle south of this city Sunday afternoon. He was with a group of young friends on a hiking party and was walking across the trestle when he fell. The trestle is approximately fifteen feet high. The Sam J. Massie & Son ambulance made a quick call, carrying him to the City Hospital for treatment where he is resting as well as could be expected.

Miss Frances Gossett was the week-end guest of her parents, Dr. and Mrs. J. L. Gossett. She was accompanied home by Misses Ina Louise Thurman and Juanica Lovelady. These young ladies are students in N. T. S. T. C., at Denton.

M'KINNEY AND DENISON PLAY 0 TO 0 TIE

BY DON W. BAGWILL

Starting a determined drive late in the fourth quarter, Coach Atkins' and Hollis' McKinney High football eleven fought and slashed their way to Denison's 18-yard stripe just as the gun sounded ending the game, and the annual McKinney-Denison football classic, played in the Yellowjacket city Friday afternoon, ended in a 0-to-0 tie.

McKinney showed a flashy offense at times, when it seemed certain the Lions would march down the field for a touchdown, but each time it seemed the offense bogged down and the threat would suddenly end. It was evident the Lions had an edge, as a summary of the game will reveal—but the touchdown punch wasn't there. Denison never threatened.

McKinney penetrated the Denison 20-yard zone in the fourth quarter. Throughout the fourth quarters, they made nine first downs to Denison's four.

RULING ON GRID GAME, PLAYED IN DENISON

Since there has been so much discussion concerning the 0-to-0 tie game played in Denison Friday between McKinney and Denison High school elevens, Fitzhugh Newsome, chairman of the local high school athletic council, announces that the contest counts a half game won and a half game lost for both elevens. However, according to the rule in this district, should the teams emerge at the end of a season tied for high honors, the game would automatically be awarded the eleven boasting the most penetrations and first downs. In such a case, the game would, therefore, go to McKinney, who made one penetration inside Denison's 20-yard line while Denison made none. McKinney also made nine first downs to Denison's four.

INFORMATION ABOUT GOVT. COTTON LOANS

GIVEN BY COUNTY FARM AGENT JACK McCULLOUGH

County Farm Agent Jack McCullough announces that many Collin county farmers have asked at his office about the government cotton loan of ten cents on this year's crop now in effect. According to Mr. McCullough, this loan is to be made through banks, warehouse companies, compresses and the Texas Cotton Cooperative Marketing association.

These loans do not come through his office although his office issues the application blanks for cotton growers to fill out in requesting this loan. He also explains that many farmers have overlooked the fact that the government is making this contract with the farmers only where they agree to comply with the government's reduction program for next year.

Mr. McCullough will be glad to give information concerning this government cotton loan but wishes to stress the fact to farmers, who are anxious to get the loan as soon as possible, that his office does not make the loan.

Rev. Roy Anderson and wife were in McKinney Monday visiting their sister-in-law, Mrs. Frank W. Emerson, and other friends and relatives. The Andersons live at Denton where Rev. Mr. Anderson and sons own and conduct a newspaper. Rev. Mr. Anderson is pastor of two churches in Collin county of the Christian denomination—one at Celina, where he has been preaching for seven years, and the other at Anna.

Miss Norma Faulkner, student at T. S. C. W., Denton, spent the week-end here.

P. F. LOFTICE OF MELISSA DIED MONDAY

BURIAL WEDNESDAY IN MELISSA CEMETERY—BORN IN VIRGINIA

P. F. Loftice, aged 59 years, passed away in Melissa at 9 o'clock, Monday evening, Oct. 30.

The deceased was born January 10, 1875 in the state of Virginia, but had resided in Collin county for forty years. He was a member of the Baptist church and of the W. O. W., Masonic and I. O. O. F. fraternal orders.

Funeral services were held Wednesday afternoon, November 1, at 2:30 o'clock at the Baptist church in Melissa, conducted by Rev. R. L. Bonner, and Rev. Mr. Barnett. Interment was made in the Melissa cemetery with the Masons in charge of the burial rites at the grave. The C. C. Harris funeral home of this city had charge of arrangements.

The deceased is survived by his aged mother, Mrs. J. P. Loftice, who resides near Weston; and the following children: C. L. Loftice, F. O. Loftice, Cleo, Jewel and Oleta Loftice, all of Melissa. Three brothers and four sisters also survive. A daughter, Jessie, preceded him in death as well as his father and two sisters.

Presbyterian Ladies Prepare for Annual Fair and Food Show

The ladies of the First Presbyterian church are busy getting everything in readiness for the nineteenth annual Fair and Food show, which they will sponsor at the city coliseum November 8, 9, 10 and 11. The coliseum and the entire western addition to it will be put in readiness during the latter part of this week and the first of next for this annual entertainment, which is always attended by large crowds all four days.

The four-day event will feature not only state and national food displays of well-known products, but also exhibits of numerous local concerns. The fair and food show is always one of the most delightful events on McKinney's calendar, filled with plenty of clean fun and entertainment, educational food displays, joviality and good fellowship.

Cooking School.

A cooking school will again be held in connection with the show this year and women of the city and county are invited to attend and get some valuable pointers on preparing various foods in an attractive and appetizing manner.

Prizes galore will be given away each night, while a delightful program will be in progress most of the time. It is no idle boast the Presbyterian ladies make when they say that this nineteenth annual Pure Food show and Fair will be the biggest and best in the history of the annual event in this city.

PILOT POINT VETERAN BUSINESS MAN VISITS HERE

Newt Beaty of Chambersville was in McKinney, Tuesday, accompanied by his uncle, W. J. Pierce, a retired business man of Pilot Point, who is visiting him. The latter was born, September 15, 1853, in Wales, but of English parentage. When he was only seven years old, his father and family moved to America and settled in Tennessee in 1860. In about 1874, Mr. Pierce went to Murphysboro, Illinois, and engaged in coal mining. In August, 1876, he and his friend, the late Prof. T. M. Wilson, left Murphysboro for Texas and landed at Melissa. They first did farm work in that vicinity and for the late John P. Wallace in the Viney Grove No. 1 community. Mr. Pierce married, December 24, 1879, to Miss Willimetta Adamson, daughter of Larkin Adamson and wife, a pioneer couple of the Chambersville community. His good wife died in May, 1923. Mr. Pierce is the father of four daughters and one son—the latter Charlie Pierce of Pilot Point. One daughter is the wife of Prof. G. W. West of Anna, former County Superintendent of Public Schools of Collin county.

Mr. Pierce is in the enjoyment of fairly good health and still makes his home at Pilot Point, but visits around among the children who are all married and have families. He will visit a few days longer at the home of Prof. and Mrs. West at Anna before returning to Pilot Point. This editor knew Mr. Pierce in our earliest childhood near Murphysboro, Illinois. He had always been a man of pleasing address, honest, industrious and upright.

His lifelong lamented friend, Prof. T. M. Wilson, died in McKinney a few years ago. He was the father of Paul K. Wilson of the J. P. Dowell Hardware & Furniture company. Prof. Wilson's wife, who is also now deceased, was a sister of Postmaster Wallace C. Wilson and of George M. Wilson, both of this city.

Mrs. G. C. Walters and Mrs. Jess Coffey visited in Wylie Tuesday.

Directors Chamber of Commerce Hear Cong. Rayburn

President Jas. H. Merritt and Secretary W. Hammond Moore were much gratified at the response of the Board of Directors and other friends at the monthly meeting of that organization held at 3:00 o'clock Friday afternoon, October 27. Interest in the occasion was heightened by the presence of Congressman Sam Rayburn of Bonham, who had been invited to talk about twenty minutes to our local business men immediately preceding his engagement at 3:30 o'clock to speak before the Owl club women at the home of Mrs. Annie Burrage.

President Merritt appropriately presented Mr. Rayburn at the meeting, stating that he was chairman of the powerful and important Domestic and Foreign Commerce Committee of the National Congress. Mr. Rayburn gave a concise review of the epoch-making Democratic administration of President Franklin D. Roosevelt from his inauguration on March 4, to the present day. He reviewed some legislation and urged the local organization to exert every effort to help secure the amount of financial aid necessary to complete our state highways in this county and other projects that would assist in putting the manpower of the country back to work.

W. P. Abernathy Red Cross Chairman.

W. P. Abernathy, local chairman at McKinney of the annual Red Cross Roll call this year, gave a brief outline of plans now being made for Roll Call. He has set the week of November 12 to November 18 for this important enrollment of McKinney citizens in this greatest of all humanitarian organizations. Prof. W. S. Smith is director for the county at large and has also designated local Roll Call chairmen at other points in the county.

New Cotton Tariff.

Ula Saunders, chairman of the Special Committee that had been appointed by President Merritt of the Chamber of Commerce, to look after cotton rates, reported a new tariff had been asked for, rates to ports from interior points. This rate has been approved at 24 cents per hundred which is equivalent to a saving of 80 cents per bale freight saving to farmers from the interior points to ports. Mr. Saunders stated that this rate hoisted the basis for cotton 15 points in McKinney. Thus, the farmer is the beneficiary. Mr. Saunders also stated that local banks had been authorized to loan 10 cents per pound on cotton to the actual growers. Mr. Saunders complimented the Chamber of Commerce and business men generally for activity and assistance rendered in helping to protect the interior cotton markets.

Judge J. Frank Harrington.

County Judge J. Frank Harrington made a fine report of highway projects in the county. He announced that the State Highway Department Engineers had completed the survey south from McKinney to the Dallas county line. Also, that negotiations had been made and are under way to finance the buying of the right-of-way which seems to be the only thing in the way of the consummation of that project. Judge Harrington and his County Commissioners Court hope to be able to let the contract to rebuild this important highway by December 1 so that actual construction may get started by the first of the year. The appraisal committee has submitted its report, showing an approximate cost of the additional right-of-way to make it 100 feet wide on its entire length. The cost of this additional land, together with property damage, moving buildings, of fences and other incidental expenses to be less than $15,000. The judge stated that the next endeavor of the Commissioners Court would be to get the rebuilding of Highway No. 6 north of McKinney and straighten it to the Grayson county line. It is also the purpose of the County Commissioners Court to have Highway No. 24, running through Farmersville to McKinney and westward designated as a Federal maintained highway.

Welfare Board Chairman.

Add G. Wilson, chairman of the County Welfare Board, had been called out of the county and at his request, Judge Harrington turned in the report for him. The judge announced a new set-up of all county boards in which the Judge and Commissioners have the authority to name the new county committee with the approval of the State Board. Judge Harrington thereupon announced the same board as now serving had been named and approved as follows: Add G. Wilson, chairman; Joe Aston of Farmersville, vice chairman; R. E. L. Miller of Celina; Tom Airhart of Valdasta, and another one to be named from Plano.

County Fair President.

A. Hardy Eubanks, president of the Collin County Fair Association this year, tendered a most interesting report of the fair held during the last week of September in McKinney. Premiums and expenses will be one hundred per cent paid with a possibility of a small balance left over. In his opinion there has never been a more successful horse show held in this part of the Southwest. On account of rain, a small deficit was incurred by the horse show enterprise which was taken care of out of the general funds of the county fair.

On motion of Howard S. Ware, seconded by F. Dudley, a rising vote of appreciation was tendered by the directors to Mr. Eubanks and his assistants who made this year's county fair and horse show an outstanding success. Tom M. Scott, the efficient secretary of the McKinney Horse Show this year, announced a great horse show would be held in Texas and thus far only two cities were being considered for the event. These are Houston and McKinney. A special committee will be appointed by President Merritt to specially look after McKinney's interest in this respect.

Citizens Conservation Camp.

F. Dudley Perkins made a report for a special committee appointed to look into the matter of the rumored removal of the Civilian Conservation Corps camp from its present location in Farmersville. Mr. Perkins stated that the officers of the camp and several of the business men of Farmersville assured the committee that the camp was to be moved. Then, Mr. Perkins and several of his committee visited Bryan to hold a conference with M. R. Bentley, director of the Extension Service in that work of this state. However, it has since been announced that the camp will be restrained at Farmersville. The local Chamber of Commerce at McKinney wants to see it held in Collin and is glad that it will be restrained at Farmersville as the Eastern part of the county is in great need of soil conservation.

T. E. Craig stated that the organization was functioning effectively and that a number of cases are being investigated for alleged violations of the code of fair practice. Mr. Craig is chairman of the Compliance Board. He is much gratified at the tendency of our citizenship to cooperate one hundred per cent with the NRA.

Girls Meet In School Room First Time After "Debut" At Same Hospital 6 Years Ago

The following interesting news item appeared in a recent issue of the Dallas Times-Herald relative to two little six-year-old school girls in that city of the same name. One of them, May Ruth Nelson, is a granddaughter of Senator and Mrs. H. A. Finch of McKinney. The item follows:

When the school session opened at the Kesterson school in Highland Park several weeks ago, two little girls with golden curls registered.

Both were 5 years old; both had the same last name, Nelson, and then because such inseparable companions that they attracted the attention of the teachers with their resemblance, their close friendship and their identical names.

Their mothers, informed of the coincidence, decided to get together and discuss the children. When they did, these two women, Mrs. Floyd S. Nelson of 4217 Prescott avenue and Mrs. A. B. Nelson of 422 Lemmon avenue, recalled another time when their young daughters had created a similar stir:

Two Nelson babies were born at Baylor hospital, both girls, back in 1928, one on Jan. 20 and the other on Jan. 24. The mothers and babies were in rooms directly across the hall from each other. The babies cooed and cried in the nursery together and were rolled in the baby cart side by side to their mothers' rooms each day.

The families were in constant dread that the babies would be mixed and the doctors and nurses were on their guard constantly to prevent any such accident. Then each mother and her child were taken home and the years have passed without either Mrs. Nelson having met the other—until the little girls became schoolmates and friends.

May Ruth is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Floyd S. Nelson and will be 6 Jan. 20 and Charlotte Ann, daughter of Mrs. and Mrs. A. B. Nelson, will celebrate her sixth birthday four days later. Both the children have hobbies. May Ruth won two buttons and a special pin for expert swimming at Highland Park swimming pool this summer, and Charlotte Ann takes part in some of Dallas' most elite dancing programs.

$1,500 RING IS MISSING AFTER SECOND HOLDUP

C. E. Cranford, former Fort Worth wrestling promoter who three months ago exchanged pistol shots with robbers, was held up by two men early Wednesday who took a diamond ring valued at $1,500 from his finger and $55 cash from his pocket.

Cranford and two companions were in an automobile returning from McKinney over the Grapevine highway when another car crowded them to the side of the road. One highwayman fired a bullet through the Cranford car running board and held a flashlight while the other frisked the promoter.

"Don't forget the ring," said the man with the light to his fellow gunman.

Cranford emptied a pistol at two robbers who ran his automobile to the side of the road last summer. He was then robbed and held in a cemetery near Dallas for the remainder of the night.

A box supper will be held Friday night, November 3, at South. Music will be furnished by the Press brothers of Blue Ridge. An interesting program has been arranged. The public is cordially invited to attend.

COURT OF HONOR DRAWS SCOUTS FROM OVER COLLIN

The County courtroom was well filled Thursday night for the regular bi-monthly Court of Honor for Boy Scouts of McKinney and Collin county.

County Judge J. Frank Harrington, chairman of the court, presided over the session and interesting program. At this meeting the First Presbyterian troop, a new troop, was installed in the county council, with F. E. Woodruff as scoutmaster and Henry W. Warden, Dr. W. T. Hoard and Dr. R. L. Cowan as the troop committee.

A large number of merit badges were awarded by Scout Executive W. G. Echols of Dallas, who also made a fine talk to the boys on scouting. Others making brief talks were Frank Cook, chairman of the Collin County Council; Howard S. Ware, County Scout Commissioner; Scoutmaster Norris of Anna; Scoutmaster Tom Talley of Frisco; Leo Spillman, Tom Greer, Henry Warden, Dr. Cowan, and others.

A good representation of scouts from Anna and Frisco were present. A stunt was given by Troop 304 of the First Baptist church under the direction of Scoutmaster Tom Greer and assistant, Leo Spillman.

The other troops of the city are the First Christian, of which Eric Nelson is scoutmaster and W. W. Hall, assistant; and the First Methodist. At the present time arrangements are being made to obtain scoutmaster for the First Methodist troop.

According to officials, the meeting Thursday night was a fine one, with a good attendance and much interest being shown for future scouting activities.

Miss Daisy Heard, of Josephine, was the week-end guest of her cousin, Miss Ray Wright, in this city.

NAZARENE CHURCH OBSERVES SILVER ANNIVERSARY

Although comparatively young in years, the Church of the Nazarene, which this week begins the celebration of its Silver Jubilee Anniversary, has a record of outstanding achievement since the merger a quarter of a century ago at Pilot Point, Texas, of the Pentecostal Churches of America, representing the eastern section of the country, and the Holiness Church of Christ, representing the Southern states, with the Nazarene church, which represented the west.

So, for five Sundays, Nazarene churches all over this country, as well as those in foreign lands, will have special programs. Tomorrow will be "rally day," culminating with an attendance of 200,000 in the Sunday schools, according to Rev. E. P. Akin, pastor of the McKinney Nazarene church.

After the union of the three bodies now composing the Church of the Nazarene, the total membership amounted to 10,414, with 606 ministers and 228 churches. Now the membership is well over 100,000; there are 3,335 ministers and 1,861 churches.

The first Nazarene church was founded by the late Dr. Phineas F. Bresee at Los Angeles, Calif., in October, 1895. Dr. Bresee, born December 31, 1838 at Franklin, Delaware County, New York, was the son of a Hugenot refugee. His parents were devout Methodists and their teaching led him to seek the ministry when he was 17 years old. When his parents moved to Iowa, Dr. Bresee's first preaching was on a circuit in Iowa county.

Following several years of hardship building churches in a sparsely settled district, Dr. Bresee was sent to Des Moines, where he remained during the years of the Civil War. Until 1883, Dr. Bresee served in various pastorates in Iowa, including Council Bluffs, Red Oak, Clarinda, Charlton and Creston. He began work in California at Los Angeles as pastor of the First Methodist Episcopal church.

His zeal as a revivalist and evangelist, however, became known throughout Southern California after he had served in other pastorates elsewhere. Dr. Bresee desired to start a church in the heart of Los Angeles, where he could preach to the poor. The Methodist Conference declined to give him permission to conduct that work as a member of the Conference, but he continued his work at the Peniel Mission. In October, 1895, Dr. Bresee and a group of friends rented a hall on South Main street and it was here that the Church of the Nazarene was born.

From this small beginning the church grew until a general assembly held at Chicago in October, 1907, ratified the union of the Associated Pentecostal churches of America with the Nazarene church. But it was not until the next year that the Holiness Church of Christ came in. At both of these general assemblies, Dr. Bresee presided. The founder died in 1915.

BAPTISTS WILL MEET AT FORT WORTH NOV. 7

The Baptist General Convention of Texas which will hold its eighty-fifth annual session at Fort Worth beginning November 7th, will this year celebrate the one hundredth anniversary of the beginning of Baptist work in Texas. The convention program will give large space to "Our Century of Progress," and will present the story of the first Baptist organization in Texas. This church was organized in Illinois and moved to Texas as a unit, crossing the Sabine River in November 1833.

Dr. J. Howard Williams, general secretary of the convention, announces that Texas Baptists will celebrate their "Century of Progress" with a great mission offering amounting to $134,000.00. Some $50,000.00 of this fund has already been paid in, and Dr. Williams expressed himself as being very hopeful that Texas Baptists would raise the remaining $85,000.00 within the next two weeks.

During this fall Texas Baptists have held 107 associational meetings all over Texas, with record attendance in almost every instance, demonstrationg the progress of the past century. When the first organized group of Baptists came into Texas one hundred years ago, there were less than fifty Baptists in the state. At this time there are more than five hundred thousand white Baptists, and a total of more than a million of all races according to Dr. Williams.

At the Fort Worth meeting, representatives from various mission fields will speak of the work Baptists are doing there, and the convention will receive reports from the work of Baptists all over the world. More than five thousand visitors are expected to attend the convention.

The W. C. T. U. held a board meeting Monday afternoon at 3 o'clock, at which time Mrs. Jim Kimbriel was elected as delegate to the state convention which will be held in San Antonio, Novem... 7, 8 and 9. Mrs. Chas. Cooper ... elected alternate.

E. P. Townley and Miss Clara Gaddis, both of Atoka, Okla., were maried by Justice of the Peace Erwin Craus here Tuesday afternoon at 4 o'clock. Mr. Townley is a son of W. E. Townley of this city while the bride is a daughter of Joe Gaddis of Atoka. They will make McKinney their future home.

Mrs. T. L. Burks served delicious Admiration coffee at the Rotary club luncheon Friday at the First Methodist church with the compliments of herself and husband who are the McKinney distributors of that popular brand of coffee. Mrs. Burks understands making this favorite table beverage and graciously served it as a demonstration of its merit and complimentary to the group of Methodist women serving the luncheon.

R. L. Martin, wife and children have returned from a visit to his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Will H. Martin, who live on their farm, six miles east of Graham, Young county. R. L. Martin is a barber in the Basement shop in this city. He found his parents well and also his aunt, Mrs. Nannie Mitchell, widow of the late John T. Mitchell of Altoga, who lives with them to be enjoying good health. These are all former Collin county people of the Altoga section where they still have many relatives and friends living.

The silver wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. E. Blumberg who live a few miles northwest of Celina was celebrated Sunday, October 22, with about 100 relatives and friends present. After dinner the crowd was swelled to nearly 400 by the arrival of friends from Muenster, Lindsey, Pilot Point and Rowlett. About 9:00 o'clock at night tables were spread out of doors which were loaded with steaming platters of roast beef, fresh pork, ham, baked chicken, bread, pickles and drinks. The principals received a number of presents.

Glenn Carroll Cragett, 3 months and 22 days old infant son of Mr. and Mrs. V. G. Cragett, of the Branch community, passed away at the family home Friday afternoon. Funeral services were held at 10:00 o'clock this (Saturday) morning at the home with burial following in the Forest Grove cemetery with the Isaac Crouch Funeral home of this city in charge. Rev. Milton Greer, Baptist pastor, conducted the services. Besides its parents, the infant is survived by a twin brother, Carroll Lynn, who is critically ill at the present; and by one other brother and three sisters, V. G. Jr., Janice, Doris and Ruth. Mrs. Cragett, was before her marriage, Miss Nelson of the Forest Grove community.

W. A. Dungan, who recently bought and remodeled a home on East Greenville street and moved into it from his farm, three miles east of McKinney, had some circulars printed at the Daily Courier-Gazette and Weekly Democrat-Gazette job printing office announcing an auction sale at 1:30 p. m., Friday, November 3 at his farm, which he has rented out for next year. He now offers his farm equipment for sale to the highest bidder on the above date. The sales list includes a work mule, a work horse, a cultivator, two riding planters, mower, rake, middle buster, turning plow, drag harrow and a walking planter. Sheriff G. J. S. Walker will be the auctioneer. Keep the date in mind and attend the auction sale and get your share of the bargains.

F. F. Kerby has bought the C. J. Haydon Grocery store at Farmersville and is continuing the business at the stand on the south side of the square. Mr. Kerby is enlarging his stock with a view to meeting the grocery needs of that section of the county. "Tine" Kerby, who was born and reared near McKinney, went from here to Farmersville in 1917 where he has since been manager of the Haydon Grocery store that he has just bought out. He has firmly established himself in the business and civic life of that East Collin little city which has elected him several times to its city council and in which capacity he is now serving. Mr. Kerby is a brother to ex-Sheriff Will A. Kerby, and M. W. Kerby and Mrs. Isaac Crouch, all of McKinney, and also a brother of Mrs. Mayse, wife of Editor Pat Mayse of Paris, Texas.

FUNERAL HERE FRIDAY FOR MRS. H. F. HIBBITTS

FORMER McKINNEY WOMAN DIED IN DALLAS WEDNESDAY

Mrs. H. F. (Frank) Hibbitts of Dallas, about 64 years of age, passed away in a Dallas hospital at 7:30 o'clock Wednesday afternoon after an illness extending over the past year. She had resided in that city for about twenty-five years, she and her husband moving to Dallas from McKinney where he was engaged in the barber business.

Surviving are her husband, three sons, three daughters and a sister, Mrs. Gene Martin, of McKinney, a brother, Dick Morton, of McKinney, and several nieces and nephews.

The deceased was before her marriage Miss Jane Morton, daughter of the late W. Y. and Mollie Morton, who resided for many years near Weston in North Collin. She was a granddaughter of the late Capt. John Johnson.

Funeral services will be conducted at the First Methodist church in McKinney of which she was a member, tomorrow (Friday) afternoon at 3 o'clock. Interment will follow in Johnson cemetery, located four miles east of McKinney.

Former Sheriff Ed Blakeman went to Nevada Wednesday to attend the funeral of an old time friend, Joe Patterson, who was buried at Nevada. Mr. Patterson was a former citizen of that section of the county, but some ten years ago moved to Brownwood where he resided when he passed away.

Mrs. Reece Hope of Leonard was recently operated on in the hospital, at Bonham. Her son, Marvin Hope, a clerk in the A. D. Hope Hardware and Furniture establishment in this city came home Thursday evening from her bedside. He reported her getting along very well on the road to recovery.

McKinney's population has been increased by the arrival of a young son born to Mr. and Mrs. Beverly Robinson. The youngster has been named Sheldon Noble Robinson. He is a grandson of Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Robinson of Celina. The young parents moved from Celina to McKinney a few months ago.

Among the McKinney fans at McKinney-Denison football game Friday were Bob Gordon, Roy Heathington and Roy Brockman, all prominent McKinney business men who can always be counted on to give their one hundred per cent loyal support to their home team and all other forms of high school athletics.

Avery Branch and Dan Bales farmers residing west of McKinney, sustained minor injuries late Thursday afternoon when their cars collided on the concrete stretch of highway about three miles west of McKinney on the Foote road. The accident occurred as their cars met, both machines being badly damaged.

These editors are in receipt of renewals to the Weekly Democrat-Gazette, from Mrs. J. T. Welsh, for her daughters, Mrs. John L. Anderson at Burkburnett and Mrs. J. H. Boyer of Houston. Mrs. Welsh has been sending the weekly to these daughters for several years. We appreciate her friendship and patronage.

Former County Tax Assessor Fount P. Shrader of Frisco was in McKinney Friday where he met his longtime political friend, Congressman Sam Rayburn. Mr. Shrader's brother, D. B. Shrader, was recently appointed Postmaster at Frisco, a position that he formerly held for several years and made a good one.

Mrs. O. W. Roberts, 304 East First street, Austin, visited in McKinney Friday, calling by this office to renew her subscription to the Weekly Democrat-Gazette. Mrs. Roberts has been visiting relatives and friends in Melissa for several days. We appreciate her patronage.

Mrs. Homer W. Wilson has returned from a visit to her parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Bolin, at Alvarado.

Public Works Administrator Ickes has allotted $1,055,237 for 23 non-federal projects in a number of states. Approximately 7000 man months of direct employment will be furnished by the projects. Of the list, 10 allotments are for loans and outright grants of 30 per cent of the cost of labor and materials while the remaining 13 are for straight grants of 30 per cent of labor and materials.

A two-year extortion conviction of F. O. Flipper, former sheriff of Hopkins county, tried in Travis county, was affirmed in Austin, no statement of facts being submitted.

Charley Frazier and Dallas Hunter, escaped Louisiana convicts, went on trial in Paris, Texas, on joint charges of robbery with firearms after each was convicted on two charges of burglary.

W. A. Dungan was a business visitor at our office Thursday, ordering some posters printed to advertise the sale of his farming equipment at his farm in the New Hope community. Mr. Dungan is a highly esteemed resident of our city, whom we are always pleased to have visit us. He is advertising some rare bargains for sale among his farm machinery. If you are interested ed get in touch with him.

Mrs. J. H. Cade of Rockwall and son, James, were in McKinney Friday looking after some property interests. Mrs. Cade is the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Pharr, who lived in this city several years, both passing away here.

Mrs. H. A. Abernathy and daughter, Miss Elizabeth, have returned from a few days' visit in Fort Worth where they were guests of Mrs. R. H. Foster.

HARRIS FUNERALS IN EVERY NEIGHBORHOOD

A large number of families in McKinney and surrounding territory would never think of calling any one else, but Harris for funerals.

These families are located far and near but Harris' service does away with the question of distance because they have the equipment and "KNOW HOW."

These families know that a "funeral by Harris" is the deepest proof of their final devotion. It is this large number of families that has made Harris' service so thoroughly established.

Harris' funerals are famous for their unusual arrangement and direction and are unsurpassed in service and equipment. They are evidently different and satisfying.

So no matter where you live or your distance away, call Harris, of-course!

There will be no regrets.

Funeral Monday Afternoon For Mrs. S. J. Dobbs

Following serious injuries sustained Friday afternoon in an automobile accident, two miles east of McKinney, Mrs. S. J. Dobbs of Princeton passed away in the McKinney City hospital at 7:45 o'clock Sunday morning. She and her husband, one of East Collin's best known practicing physicians, were en route to their home in Princeton from McKinney Friday afternoon, when the accident occurred. Dr. Dobbs, who was driving, could not explain the cause of the accident, declaring that in some manner the car got out from under his control, plunging into the concrete guard of the bridge.

Both Dr. Dobbs and wife were brought to the city hospital in the Isaac Crouch ambulance, who were notified of the accident by Wallace Rice, who was passing at the time and who saw the car strike the bridge. Both the Princeton physician and his wife sustained internal injuries. He is recovering in the local hospital. His wife never regained consciousness.

Mrs. Dobbs was, before her marriage, Miss Newell Henderson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. S. G. Henderson, of Altoga, who are buried in the cemetery at that place. She was born Aug. 23, 1880, at Altoga and was therefore at the time of her death, 53 years, 2 months and 6 days old.

She united with the Christian church at the age of 17 years and had lived a consistent Christian life since that time.

Surviving are her husband, Dr. S. J. Dobbs, who is still a patient in the city hospital following injuries sustained in the car wreck, and the following sisters and brothers; Mrs. Joe Wallis of Wylie, Mrs. A. J. Minman of New Braunfels, Texas, Mrs. J. K. Robinson of Dallas, Mrs. Jess Bates of Altoga, E. C. Henderson of Dallas and Paul Henderson of Allen.

Funeral services for the deceased were held at the First Christian church in McKinney this (Monday) afternoon at 2:30 o'clock, conducted by the pastor, Dr. Clifford S. Weaver. Interment followed in Restland Memorial Park, located between Richardson and Vickery, on the McKinney-Dallas highway.

SISTER HONORED AT BLUE RIDGE FAMILY REUNION

A family reunion was given at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Turner, three miles north of Blue Ridge, in honor of Mrs. Turner's sister, Mrs. W. P. Mizelle of Bogolossa, La., whom they had not seen in forty-two years. At the noon hour a long table was spread for about 150 relatives.

Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Barnett, now deceased, were the parents of twelve children, all of whom are living except Mrs. J. C. Knight of Ponder, Texas, who died several years ago.

Brothers and sisters were present as follows: Mr. and Mrs. H. R. Barnett and family of Pike; Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Barnett and family of Westminster; Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Barnett and family of Lane; Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Barnett of Gunter; Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Denton, Mr. and Mrs. Mack Mott and family of Melissa; Mrs. Marandy Watkins of Meadows; Mrs. Henry Ivy of Muleshoe; Mr. and Mrs. Bud Mohon and family of Westminster; W. P. Mizelle and family of Bogolossa, La.; Mr. and Mrs. John Turner and families of Blue Ridge.

An old fiddlers' contest will be staged at the Ritz theater Thursday night, in connection with the regular picture program, sponsored by the local Jimmie Geigas American Legion post, of which Phil Wolford is post commander. Prizes will be awarded the winners. The Ritz is expected to be crowded for the evening. Manager Roy L. Brockman of the theater is offering a fine picture program along with the fiddlers' contest.

Mrs. W. J. Ferguson and daughters, Misses Frances and Seawillow, were week-end guests of Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Wilson.

Congressman Sam Rayburn Addresses Rotary Club

Stressing the importance of the Red River Dam project as a part of the great Public Works Program of the Federal Government, praising the Roosevelt administration and President Franklin D. Roosevelt, himself, and lauding the Government's war on crime and kidnaping in particular, Congressman Sam Rayburn of this, the Fourth Texas District, one of the most powerful of members of the Lower House, Friday spoke to the Rotary club assembled with a large number of guests for their regular weekly noonday luncheon.

Congressman Rayburn was introduced to the Rotarians and their guests by Hon. Horace H. Neilson, Collin county attorney of the Federal Government Home Owners Loan Corporation. He introduced the gifted speaker as "the ideal Congressman—the man whom all Washington looks up to as the most nearly perfectly poised National Representative." He explained that a prominent member of President Roosevelt's "brain trust" recently spoke of Mr. Rayburn denominated him as the "ideal Congressman."

Following the brief introductory remarks, Congressman Rayburn, launched into his speech with a description of "This man, Roosevelt, his policies and administration." He explained that he was campaign manager for Vice President John Nance Garner when the latter was running for the Democratic nomination for President at the Chicago convention and when he (Mr. Rayburn) released the Texas and California delegations instructed to vote for Garner, they immediately voted for Roosevelt bringing the nomination to the latter preventing a serious break in the Democratic party ranks since four Roosevelt states were prepared to leave Roosevelt's standard when California and Texas came over to Mr. Roosevelt at a crucial moment and turned defeat into victory.

In describing Mr. Roosevelt the speaker said, "In his prime, Jack Dempsey had no finer hands or arms or a deeper, sounder chest than the President. I marvel at his capacity for work. He works from early in the morning about 8:00 o'clock until 11:00 or 12:00 o'clock at night and then sleeps perfectly for seven, eight or nine hours, arising at the appointed time as fresh as ever. Once, shortly before he was inaugurated, he invited six Senators and six Congressmen, including myself, to visit him in New York. We arrived and were received at 8:30 o'clock. He had been talking to officials about trying matters since early in the morning. When we arose to go it was 12:20 o'clock at night, and he was the least tired man in the group.

"He approaches every problem in a playboy spirit. He never looks glum or worried, always happy and always smiling. If he were here to see this magnificent sunshine and those beautiful trees out there, he would smile. He is happy.

"I have often wondered how he can stand the tremendous amount of work that he does. But in the great order of things, from the beginning of time to the present, it seems that there has been One who stood at the elbow of some one key man in times of stress. It seems that God made man so that when the human race was jeopardized on every hand, when things appeared at the place where the end was in sight, the Almighty, touched some man on the shoulder and brought him forward. The American nation had never faced such a disheartening situation before, either through war, pestilence or economic ills, as when Mr. Roosevelt entered the Presidency on March 4, 1933. The hope, the life savings and faith in men built up for generations in this nation was on the verge of being swept completely away when he entered office. His inaugural address, in itself, was the most heartening message that the people of the United States have ever received. It brought to every heart and it brought what the American people want when they are fighting—"action!" They did not care whether Roosevelt did right or wrong, but they wanted him to do something—and he did!

"American manhood and womanhood with the patriotism and brains they have exhibited are going upward, onward to a reasonable amount of lasting prosperity in the near future." (Long Applause.)

Mr. Rayburn then explained why all efforts of the previous administration to bring the nation back to reasonable prosperity failed when 70,000,000 people had their buying power almost utterly destroyed and cut off while the remaining 55,000,000 found their buying power badly crippled.

He explained that he had put up before Congress two major administration bills during the last special session, "the famous one hundred days of Congress," both of which bills were passed. They were the Securities Act causing all salable stocks and bonds to be licensed by the government and thoroughly inspected, explained and classified, making it practically impossible for the public to be swindled and the other bill abolishing holding companies for railroads, putting the latter on a more stable basis. These are two of the most important of the laws passed by the recent Congress, emanating from the Interstate and Foreign Commerce Committee of the House, of which he is chairman and on which he has served since first going to Congress. The importance of this committee caused Congress to pass a rule when it was formed that no Congressman serving on that committee could serve on another. Consequently, Mr. Rayburn has served on it exclusively since his entrance into Congress.

Launching into a discussion of the famous $3,300,000,000 Public Works program of the National government, he said, "I am trying to help allocate $36,000,000 of this money to build a large Red River dam to cover 250,000 acres near Denison. It will withhold from the Mississippi River from one to three feet of water. Think what that will mean. In the flood of 1927, after the government had put great levees along the Mississippi and pronounced the Mississippi safe, this flood came along and destroyed a large per cent of the levees and caused $350,000,000 worth of damage. This three foot rise in the Mississippi, eliminated by flood control of the Red River through the proposed dam, would go a long way to stop a future disaster of this sort.

"It will also generate a large amount of cheap electrical power, attracting cotton mills to the edges of the cotton fields in this section of North Texas and also helping other industries. Eventually, so many industries would be here that the power companies now here woud be better off than ever with more consumers, thus hurting no one.

"Also, it would provide a great lake and a marvelous playground for 1,000,000 North Texans and Southern Oklahomans and more, who are sorely in need of such a delightful spot at the present. The government has already dismissed a number of these proposed lakes and dams from the Public Works Program, but they have not yet passed up the Red River Dam project, and I am reasonably hopeful it will meet the government's approval in the near future."

Congressman Rayburn closed this stirring, well rounded brief address with a plea for continued support of the National Administration and its policies by McKinney and Collin county citizens, predicting "a better and a happier day."

His address was given in low, modulated tones in the form of a straight from the shoulder, heart to heart talk, and his listeners sat entranced as he unfolded his story, quietly listening, held spellbound.

At the conclusion of his speech he was thanked by Hon. Mr. Neilson and President Howard S. Ware of the club.

A delightful chicken dinner was served to the many Rotarians and guests present by the ladies of the First Methodist church under the direction of Mrs. Walter B. Wilson. It consisted of baked chicken, hot chicken dressing, green stew with boiled eggs, potatoes, salad, greens, boiled apples and dessert of date cake and whipped cream.

Rotarian Jack McCullough announced next week's program.

RESOLUTIONS OF RESPECT

McKinney, Tex., Oct. 27, 1933
To Hon. G. R. Smith, Pres.,
Collin County Bar Assn.
Sir:

We, your Committee recently appointed to prepare a resolution expressing the respect and esteem in which Hon. G. E. Carpenter, late of this Bar, was held by the members of the Association, recommend the following resolution be adopted.

RESOLVED:

That in the passing of the Hon. G. E. Carpenter, late of Plano Texas, the Collin County Bar Association has lost one of its most faithful adherents, who has for almost an half century contributed his efforts toward the adminstration of justice through the Courts of this County.

That the example of his calm life, his patient and constructive thought and his intense study and devotion to the Law and the beneficent purposes which it serves are worthy of the respect, admiration and commendation of the members of this Bar.

That in the passing of this man the Bar and Collin County suffers the loss of one honored by the members of his profession for the examples of exact justice he has so long set as a private citizen, a States Attorney, a Judge on the Bench and as an Attorney at this Bar.

Respectfully,
JOHN D. REESE,
WALLACE HUGHSTON,
J. F. HARRINGTON,
Committee.

Rev. Foy Thomas has been sent back as pastor of the Methodist church, at Waelder, for a second year. Prior to that he served four years as pastor of Palm Heights Methodist church in San Antonio. Prior to that, he began his ministry as pastor on the McKinney circuit. His wife was formerly Miss Irene Hughston, a McKinney school teacher and a daughter of Judge and Mrs. Wallace Hughston. The latter recently came home from a visit at Waelder, bringing back with her the fine little son of Rev. and Mrs. Thomas to care for while his parents attended conference at San Antonio.

A successful week's revival meeting has been closed at the Dunn Memorial Baptist church east of this city. It was both spiritual and strengthening to the community and was largely attended each night. Rev. Bourland of Weston is pastor of the church; I. R. Wallis, treasurer; and Mrs. D. W. Shanks, church clerk. Different pastors spoke during the meeting, including Rev. G. B. Airhart and Rev. J. Ben Snider of McKinney, Rev. Jimmy Smith, Rev. Mr. Griggs, and Rev. Hedges. Services will be held at the church each first and third Sundays in the future.

The City Federation will sponsor tag day here Saturday, according to Mrs. E. L. Burton, president. The sale will be for the benefit of the City library, which is badly in need of new books. Several young ladies of the city will assist in the sale and Mrs. Burton urges our citizens to take advantage of the sale, since the proceeds will go to a good and worthy cause.
